Shines an incisive and entertaining light into the secretive world of the South Korean technology giant, shaping our digital lives in ways we probably can't imagine. Brad Stone Can the Asian giant beat Apple? Based on years of reporting on Samsung for The Economist, the Wall Street Journal, and Time, from his base in South Korea and his countless sources inside and outside the company, Geoffrey Cain offers the first deep look behind the curtains of the biggest company nobody knows. How has this happened? Forty years ago, Samsung was a rickety Korean agricultural conglomerate that produced sugar, paper, and fertilizer. But with the rise of the PC revolution, Chairman Lee Byung-chul came up with an incredibly risky multimillion-dollar idea: to become a global technology giant. And he did it. Samsung's success is a remarkable story of innovation, risk-taking, and persistence in the face of seemingly insurmountable odds. The company's rise from a small, struggling company to a global powerhouse is a testament to the power of hard work, determination, and a willingness to think outside the box. In this book, Geoffrey Cain provides a behind-the-scenes look at Samsung's remarkable journey, revealing the company's secrets, successes, and challenges along the way. From its early days as a small, family-owned business to its current status as a global technology giant, Samsung's story is one of resilience, innovation, and success. This book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of technology, the power of innovation, and the story of one of the world's most successful companies.
