crises develop with startling speed and intensity This introductory book on the new science of networks takes an interdisciplinary approach using economics sociology computing information science and applied mathematics to address fundamental questions about the links that connect us and the ways that our decisions can have consequences for others

Google and the Mission to Map Meaning and Make Money Bart Milner,2004 This book is the unfolding story of the new technology of Internet Search how Larry Page and Sergey Brin the founders of Google discovered a new way to index the Internet s network of networks by developing Search methods so powerful that they effectively created a free public and universal library out of billions of random documents It also tells how together with the help of a brilliant team built initially at Stanford University they then found a new way of making money through contextual advertising now worth e billion leaving potential competitors particularly Microsoft far behind It shows how Google s founders have also succeeded in insisting that integrity rather than profit remains at the heart of an enterprise that they will continue to control despite the best efforts of Wall Street The second half of this book also seeks to explain the central problems of machine intelligence the difference between words and their meaning or syntax and semantics which had blocked this kind of IT development for half a century until Google s founders discovered that hypertext the unique feature of the Internet that links documents could be measured and mapped to sort millions of apparently similar pages for relevance and significance Google s pursuit of a hugely ambitious and optimistic American dream that leaves them globally admired and respected keeping their principles intact whilst also creating a fabulously wealthy company is a winning blend of luck jokes mathematical inspiration engineering perspiration deep technical knowledge of the Internet and they would have you believe thousands of highly trained pigeons The book is 288 pages long including a comprehensive index and 600 item bibliography covering virtually all aspects of Internet Search The print version of the book comes with a free online electronic version with hypertext links to related articles and books designed to make any aspect of the history of Internet search easy to find with a couple of mouse clicks The book s author Bart Milner is a trained technology journalist and editor who started using the Web in 1984 with a 300 baud acoustic coupler and then became a developer partly to try and solve the question of why computer logic has been unable to deal with meaning and association This background has given him an insight into the inspired but almost accidental way that Google s founders cracked the problem of finding a significant document from billions of unindexed and changing Web pages in a fraction of a second Anyone interested in the future of the Internet and Information Technology should enjoy this fast and fluid story of a company which has become a flagship business of the 21st century by not conceding any of its integrity and principles to the huge pressures of commercial profit whilst providing some of the most elegant and powerful engineering solutions ever seen on the Net Economic Models for Managing Cloud Services Sajib Mistry,Athman Bouguettaya,Hai Dong,2018-02-10 The authors introduce both the quantitative and qualitative economic models as optimization tools for the selection of long term cloud service requests The economic models fit almost intuitively in the way business is usually done and maximize the profit of a cloud provider for a long term period The authors propose a new multivariate Hidden Markov and Autoregressive Integrated Moving Average HMM ARIMA model to predict various patterns of runtime resource utilization A heuristic based Integer Linear Programming ILP optimization approach is developed to maximize the runtime resource utilization It deploys a Dynamic Bayesian Network DBN to model the dynamic pricing and long term operating cost A new Hybrid Adaptive Genetic Algorithm HAGA is proposed that optimizes a non linear profit function periodically to address the stochastic arrival of requests Next the authors explore the Temporal Conditional Preference Network TempCP Net as the qualitative economic model to represent the high level IaaS business strategies The temporal qualitative preferences are indexed in a multidimensional kd tree to efficiently compute the preference ranking at runtime A three dimensional Q learning approach is developed to find an optimal qualitative composition using statistical analysis on historical request patterns Finally the authors propose a new multivariate approach to predict future Quality of Service QoS performances of peer service providers to efficiently configure a TempCP Net It discusses the experimental results and evaluates the efficiency of the proposed composition framework using Google Cluster data real world QoS data and synthetic data It also explores the significance of the proposed approach in creating an economically viable and stable cloud market This book can be utilized as a useful reference to anyone who is interested in theory practice and application of economic models in cloud computing This book will be an invaluable guide for small and medium entrepreneurs who have invested or plan to invest in cloud infrastructures and services Overall this book is suitable for a wide audience that includes students researchers and practitioners studying or working in service oriented computing and cloud computing
