opportunities for health participation and security in order to enhance quality of life as people age. An active and healthy life has remained one of the most important aspirations for all people both young and older adults alike. This ambition has become a genuine possibility for many due to a rising life expectancy among people of diverse attributes across the world. While celebrating longer life and with more financial security in later life than ever before, we need to challenge how these aspirations can be sustained through our own behavioural responses and through public policy, institutional reforms and innovations. The challenge is to identify, recommend and promote strategies and interventions that stimulate and sustain the activity, independence and health of people of all ages, especially older adults, and in the process promote the well-being and quality of life of people and make public welfare systems more sustainable.
