Larry Neal,Jeffrey G. Williamson,2014 Conquest and Capitalism 1492-1992 Steve Brouwer,1992 Capital and Colonialism Klas Rönnbäck,Oskar Broberg,2019-07-11 This book engages in the long standing debate on the relationship between capitalism and colonialism Specifically R nnb ck and Broberg study the interaction between imperialist policies colonial institutions and financial markets Their primary method of analysis is examining micro and macro level data relating to a large sample of ventures operating in Africa and traded on the London Stock Exchange between 1869 and 1969 Their study shows that the relationship between capital and colonialism was highly complex While return from investing in African colonies on average was not extraordinary there were certainly many occasions when investors enjoyed high return due to various forms of exploitation While there were actors with rational calculations and deliberate strategies there was also an important element of chance in determining the return on investment not least in the mining sector which overall was the most important business for investment in African ventures during this period This book finally also demonstrates that the different paths of decolonization in Africa had very diverse effects for investors

The Interwar World Andrew

Denning,Heidi J.S. Tworek,2023-08-29 The Interwar World collects an international group of over 50 contributors to discuss analyze and interpret this crucial period in twentieth century history A comprehensive understanding of the interwar era has been limited by Euro American approaches and strict adherence to the temporal limits of the world wars The volume s contributors challenge the era s accepted temporal and geographic framings by privileging global processes and interactions Each contribution takes a global thematic approach integrating world regions into a shared narrative Three central questions frame the chapters First when was the interwar Viewed globally the years 1918 and 1939 are arbitrary limits and the volume explicitly engages with the artificiality of the temporal framework while closely examining the specific dynamics of the 1920s and 1930s Second where was the interwar Contributors use global history methodologies and training in varied world regions to decenter Euro American frameworks engaging directly with the usefulness of the interwar as both an era and an analytical category Third how global was the interwar Authors trace accelerating connections in areas such as public health and mass culture counterbalanced by processes of economic protectionism exclusive nationalism and limits to migration By approaching the era thematically the volume disaggregates and interrogates the meaning of the global in this era As a comprehensive guide this volume offers overviews of key themes of the interwar period for undergraduates while offering up to date historiographical insights for postgraduates and scholars interested in this pivotal period in global history

Capitalism in the Colonies A. G. Hopkins, 2024-07-16 An account that challenges the conventional views of African merchants under colonialism examining the emergence and changing fortunes of indigenous entrepreneurs in Lagos Nigeria In Capitalism in the Colonies A G Hopkins provides the first substantial assessment of the fortunes of African entrepreneurs under colonial rule Examining the lives and careers of 100 merchants in Lagos Nigeria between 1850 and 1931 Hopkins challenges conventional views of the contribution made by indigenous entrepreneurs to the long run economic development of Nigeria He argues that African merchants in Lagos not only survived but were also responsible for key innovations in trade construction farming and finance that are essential for understanding the development of Nigeria's economy The book is based on a large representative sample and covers a time span that traces mercantile fortunes over two and three generations Drawing on a wide range of sources Hopkins shows that indigenous entrepreneurs were far more adventurous than expatriate firms African merchants in Lagos pioneered motor vehicles sewing machines publishing tanneries and new types of internal trade They founded the construction industry that built Lagos into a major port city moved inland to start the cocoa farming industry and developed the finance sector that is still vital to Nigeria's economy They also took the lead in changing single owned businesses into limited liability companies creating freehold property rights and promoting wage labour In short Hopkins argues they were the capitalists who introduced the institutions of capitalism into Nigeria The story of African merchants in Nigeria reminds us he writes that economic structures have no life of their own until they are animated by the actions of creative individuals After the Nation-state Mathew Horsman, Andrew Marshall, 1994 Traces the genesis of the nation state its rise as a form of organization and its expansion from Europe to America Asia and Africa Drawing on historical economic and political analysis of the nation state and its enemies the authors argue that the time has come for a reappraisal of its role Current Literature on Science of Science, 1984 The Cambridge Modern History, 1910 The Saturday Evening Post, 1960 The Legacies of Literacy Harvey J. Graff, 1987 Scholars and statesmen have debated the influence of international commerce on war and peace for thousands of years Over the centuries analysts have generally treated the questions Does international commerce influence security and Do trade flows influence security as synonymous In Producing Security Stephen Brooks maintains that such an overarching focus on the security implications of trade once made sense but no longer does Trade is no longer the primary means of organizing international economic transactions rather where and how multinational corporations MNCs organize their international production activities is now the key integrating force of global commerce MNC strategies have changed in a variety of fundamental ways over the past three decades Brooks argues resulting in an increased geographic dispersion of production across borders The author shows that the globalization of production has led to a series of shifts in the global security environment It has a differential effect on security relations in part because it does not encompass all countries and industries to the same extent The book's findings indicate that the geographic dispersion of MNC production acts as a significant force for peace among the great powers The author concludes that there is no basis for optimism that the globalization of production will promote peace elsewhere in the world Indeed he finds that it has a net negative influence on security relations among developing countries
