Symes, 2016-11-30 Could your ancestors write their own names or did they mark official documents with a cross Why did great grandfather write so cryptically on a postcard home during the First World War Why did great grandmother copy all the letters she wrote into letter books How unusual was it that great uncle sat down and wrote a poem or a memoir Researching Family History Through Ancestors Personal Writings looks at the kinds of mainly unpublished writing that could turn up amongst family papers from the Victorian period onwards a time during which writing became crucial for holding families together and managing their collective affairs With industrialization improved education and far more geographical mobility British people of all classes were writing for new purposes with new implements in new styles using new modes of expression and new methods of communication e g telegrams and postcards Our ancestors had an itch for scribbling from the most basic marks initials signatures and graffiti on objects as varied as trees rafters and window ledges through more emotionally charged kinds of writing such as letters and diaries to more creative works such as poetry and even fiction This book shows family historians how to get the most out of documents written by their ancestors and therefore how better to understand the people behind the words The New Meritocracy Mark Peel, 2015 The story of how the independent schools sector was transformed in a single generation In Britain independent schools have always attracted controversy Many take issue with the high level of privilege they are perceived to enjoy But in recent years the sector has undergone a revolution turning outdated institutions with sharply varying standards into meritocratic powerhouses The New Meritocracy explores the changes that have taken place in this sector its many considerable strengths and the challenges it may face in the future as the gap between this and the state sector continues to grow Social Class, Physical Education, and Community Sport Michael Roy Hobson, Stuart Whigham, Izram Chaudry, 2025-12-31 This edited collection showcases a range of contributions from emerging and established academics to the contemporary study of social class community sport and physical education Compared to other markers of social identity in academic analyses of physical education and community sport such as gender race and ethnicity sexuality and disability discussions of social class have often been relegated to a secondary consideration However social class has shown to continually intersect with other markers of identity in shaping opportunities patterns of participation and social trends in physical education and community sport This collection illustrates the importance of social class relations within

Stiff Upper Lip Alex Renton, 2017-04-06 A brave and necessary book GUARDIAN Shocking gripping and sobering SUNDAY TELEGRAPH No other society sends its young boys and girls away to school to prepare them for a role in the ruling class Beating bullying fagging cold baths vile food and paedophile teachers are just some of the features of this elite education and while some children loved boarding school others now admit to suffering life altering psychological damage Stiff Upper Lip exposes the hypocrisy cronyism and conspiracy that are key to understanding the scandals over abuse and neglect in institutions all over the world Award winning investigative journalist Alex Renton went to three traditional boarding schools Drawing on those experiences and the vivid testimony of hundreds of former pupils he has put together a compelling history important to anyone wondering what shaped the people who run Britain in the twenty first century

The Tyranny of Merit Michael J. Sandel, 2020-09-10 A TLS GUARDIAN AND NEW STATESMAN BOOK OF THE YEAR 2020 The new bestseller from the acclaimed author of Justice and one of the world's most popular philosophers Astute insightful and empathetic A crucial book for this moment Tara Westover author of Educated These are dangerous times for democracy We live in an age of winners and losers where the odds are stacked in favour of the already fortunate Stalled social mobility and entrenched inequality give the lie to the promise that you can make it if you try And the consequence is a brew of anger and frustration that has fuelled populist protest with the triumph of Brexit and election of Donald Trump Michael J Sandel argues that to overcome the polarized politics of our time we must rethink the attitudes toward success and failure that have accompanied globalisation and rising inequality Sandel highlights the hubris a meritocracy generates among the winners and the harsh judgement it imposes on those left behind He offers an alternative way of thinking about success more attentive to the role of luck in human affairs more conducive to an ethic of humility and more hospitable to a politics of the common good

Paperbacks in Print, 1965 The Myth of Meritocracy James Bloodworth, 2016-05-19 The best jobs in Britain today are overwhelmingly done by the children of the wealthy Meanwhile it is increasingly difficult for bright but poor kids to transcend their circumstances This state of affairs should not only worry the less well off It hurts the middle classes too who are increasingly locked out of the top professions by those from affluent backgrounds Hitherto Labour and Conservative politicians alike have sought to deal with the problem by promoting the idea of equality of opportunity In politics social mobility is the only game in town and old socialist arguments emphasising economic equality are about as fashionable today as mullets and shell suits Yet genuine equality of opportunity is impossible alongside levels of inequality last seen during the 1930s In a grossly unequal society the privileges of the parents unfailingly become the privileges of the children A vague commitment from our politicians to build a meritocracy is not enough Nor is it desirable a perfectly stratified meritocracy in which everyone knew their station based on merit would be a deeply unpleasant place to live Any genuine attempt to improve social mobility must start by reducing the gap between rich and poor PROVOCATIONS is a groundbreaking new series of short polemics composed by some of the most intriguing voices in contemporary culture and edited by Yasmin Alibhai Brown Sharp intelligent and controversial Provocations provides insightful contributions to the most vital discussions in society today      The Rise of the Meritocracy, 1870-2033 Michael Dunlop Young,1958 A satire surveying the trends of present day British educational policy as from the year 2033      The Rise of the Meritocracy 1870-2033 Michael Young,1975      The Rise of the Meritocracy, 1870-2033 Michael Young,1984-08      The Rise of Meritocracy Michael Young,1970
