China and Europe Yuwen Li, 2005-11-01 Understanding and exercising the right to freedom of association in a modern sense is a relatively new phenomenon in China. The reform of old social organizations and the emergence of new privately initiated non profit organizations only began to occur in the 1980s and such organizations continued to expand throughout the 1990s. Within a short period these new organizations have become a vibrant force in Chinese society. This unique volume, the first book in English to offer systematic and critical research in this field, is the outcome of a three year research project on the Legal Aspects of Social Organisations in China. The main aim of the project was to encourage Chinese researchers to deepen their knowledge and understanding of the current status of social organizations in China and to allow them to explore possible ways of creating a friendly legal environment conducive to the exercise of the right to freedom of association. The book contains some of the best results of the Chinese researchers work and papers presented by European experts at two international seminars organized jointly by the Institute of Law of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and Law Faculty of Utrecht University, The Netherlands. The contributions of the European experts explore different systems of regulation that have developed and which are accommodated within the legal framework and traditions of each particular country. The aim of the volume is to stimulate international understanding of the progress made by China and the dilemmas it still faces with respect to its emerging new civil society organizations.

China-eu: Green Cooperation Etienne Reuter, Jing Men, 2014-08-08 This book offers a selection of views from Chinese and European experts and scholars on the most pressing environmental challenges: air quality, global warming, climate change, energy security, urbanisation, faced by Europe and China in 2014. The contributors also discuss possibilities of technical cooperation between the two sides on remedies for the domestic scene as well as contributions to international negotiations. These problems top the agenda of the new leadership in China and also feature prominently on the EU-China agenda for EU's efforts to mitigate climate change.

China and EU Jing Men, Annika Linck, 2017-05-12 Reform and governance are of vital interest to both the People's Republic of China and the European Union. EU-China is facing demographic and environmental challenges and has been experiencing a rapid economic transition. The social tensions arising from these challenges call for a governance system that will allow the Chinese leadership to alleviate social tensions without putting at risk their leadership. A society which is becoming more diverse and facing problems of a global scale that also cause turmoil at the grass roots may be difficult to govern top down. Notwithstanding the Communist Party of China's CPC grip on Chinese society, there may be ways to integrate public opinion and civil society organisations in governmental decision making through reforms that do not challenge the current leadership. The EU on the other hand faces the same global challenges with a very different and complex governance system. EU foreign and security policy, thus including EU policy towards China, are governed by the EU's foreign policy principles which contain among others the promotion of democracy, the rule of law and the universality and indivisibility of human rights and fundamental freedoms. How successful can the EU be in advancing these principles when engaging with China while respecting the Chinese political system How can the EU and China find common grounds in their governance systems so as to enhance their strategic partnership in order to tackle global issues that need a coordinated approach The Asia-Europe Meeting Alfredo C. Robles,2007-12-21 This book gives a critical assessment of the ASEM process which now brings together all 27 EU members the European Commission and 16 East Asian states and examines its progress in terms of economic and social development politics and culture

Government-NGO Relationships in Africa, Asia, Europe and MENA Raffaele Marchetti,2018-04-27 This volume brings together some of the most recent scholarship on government and civil society It examines the axis of the relationship between national governments and civil society organisations NGOs by highlighting commonalities as well as differences among four key regions in the world Using the stability vs instability framework the book explores a range of pertinent issues including human rights development foreign policy state building regime change governance frameworks wars and civil liberties It studies diverse situations from those entailing comprehensive cooperation to those involving politically contentious and revolutionary activities With case studies from Africa Asia Europe and the Middle East and North Africa MENA this volume will be useful to scholars and researchers of political science global politics international relations sociology development studies global governance and public policy as well as to those in the development sector and NGOs

China, the EU and the World Frédéric Lerais,2007 During the last decade China has become a major global economic and political player China s economic development has been extraordinary with average annual GDP growth rates close to 10% it has become the third largest exporter globally Nevertheless the GDP per capita numbers underline how far China s standard of living is still lagging behind and how far distant the goal of a well off society emphasising a more social and environmentally friendly path to development still is In line with China s economic rise the country has come to occupy a prominent place on the EU policy agenda China is now the EU s second most important trading partner after the US while the EU has become China s top trading partner This report will first analyse what forces have been driving China s current development The second part will try to identify bow China will evolve in the future and what challenges to its long term sustainable development it is facing The final part analyses the impact of China s current and future development for the EU and its policy stance It concludes with recommendations for an EU policy on China

Civil Society Work in China: Trade-Offs and Opportunities for European NGOs Bertram Lang,Heike Holbig,2018 Abstract Enacted in January 2017 China s Foreign Non Governmental Organisation Management Law FNGO Law has been interpreted as the clearest evidence of shrinking spaces for civil society in China While the overall trend towards tightened political control and the restriction of independent societal initiatives under Xi Jinping continues unabated the effects of the new legal environment for non profits operating in China remain ambiguous The new FNGO Law epitomises the Chinese party state s securitised and mistrustful approach towards independent social forces notably those with Western backing in the new era However as opposed to other countries with restrictive NGO laws Chinese authorities have stopped short of directly attacking or scapegoating NGOs Instead they portray the law as a transparency and service oriented regulatory improvement that finally grants foreign NGOs legal security After two years 110 European organisations out of a total of 734 have registered European Journal of East Asian Studies ,2008 Transnational Associations ,1988 Includes monthly supplements to International congress calendar □□□□ ,2007 Official Journal of the European Communities ,1997 Global Concerns - Global Cooperation Nora Sausmikat,2010 Civil Society in the Asia-Pacific Region Isagani R.
