Research in Education, 1970    Resources in Education, 1976    Guide to Producing National Health Accounts World Bank, World Health Organization, United States. Agency for International Development, 2003 National health accounts are a key practical tool for policy makers interested in evaluating and restructuring their nation's health care financing and assessing financial interventions to improve people's health. Commerce Business Daily, 1998-08    The Christian Union, 1888    Voices from the Forest Malcolm Cairns, 2010-09-30 This handbook of locally based agricultural practices brings together the best of science and farmer experimentation vividly illustrating the enormous diversity of shifting cultivation systems as well as the power of human ingenuity. Environmentalists have tended to disparage shifting cultivation sometimes called swidden cultivation or slash and burn agriculture as unsustainable due to its supposed role in deforestation and land degradation. However, a growing body of evidence indicates that such indigenous practices as they have evolved over time can be highly adaptive to land and ecology. In contrast, scientific agricultural solutions imposed from outside can be far more damaging to the environment. Moreover, these external solutions often fail to recognize the extent to which an agricultural system supports a way of life along with a society's food needs. They do not recognize the degree to which the sustainability of a culture is intimately associated with the sustainability and continuity of its agricultural system. Unprecedented in ambition and scope, Voices from the Forest focuses on successful agricultural strategies of upland farmers. More than 100 scholars from 19 countries including agricultural economists, ecologists, and anthropologists collaborated in the analysis of different fallow management typologies working in conjunction with hundreds of indigenous farmers of different cultures and a broad range of climates, crops, and soil conditions. By sharing this knowledge and combining it with new scientific and technical advances, the authors hope to make indigenous practices and experience more widely accessible and better understood not only by researchers and development practitioners but by other communities of farmers around the world.
