commentary Bartok's Viola Concerto Donald Maurice, 2004-03-04 When Bela Bartok died in September of 1945 he left a partially completed viola concerto commissioned by the virtuoso violist William Primrose Yet while no definitive version of the work exists this concerto has become arguably the most performed viola concerto in the world The story of how the concerto came to be from its commissioning by Primrose to its first performance to the several completions that are performed today is told here in Bartok's Viola Concerto The Remarkable Story of His Swansong After Bartok's death his family asked the composer's friend Tibor Serly to look over the sketches of the concerto and to prepare it for publication While a draft was ready it took Serly years to assemble the sketches into a complete piece In 1949 Primrose finally unveiled it at a premiere performance with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra For almost half a century the Serly version enjoyed great popularity among the viola community even while it faced charges of inauthenticity In the 1990s several revisions appeared and in 1995 the composer's son Peter Bartok released a revision opening the way or an intensified debate on the authenticity of the multiple versions This debate continues as violists and Bartok scholars seek the definitive version of this final work of Hungary's greatest composer Bartok's Viola Concerto tells the story of the genesis and completion of Bartok's viola concerto its reception over the second half of the twentieth century its revisions and future possibilities Detective Stories Joseph Lewis French, 2010-06-01 Joseph Lewis French introduces his edition of detective stories with the statement We did not readily realize what Poe had done when he created Auguste Dupin Detective fiction is indeed a recent literary tradition and French's collection celebrates it with writers such as Edgar Allan Poe Wilkie Collins and Arthur Conan Doyle The Golden Slipper Anna Katharine Green, 2015-10-16 Violet had gone to her room She had a task before her That afternoon a packet had been left at the door which from a certain letter scribbled in one corner she knew to be from her employer The contents of that packet must be read and she had made herself comfortable with the intention of setting to work at once But ten o'clock struck and then eleven before she could bring herself to give any attention to the manuscript awaiting her perusal In her present mood a quiet sitting by the fire with her eyes upon the changeful flame was preferable to the study of any affair her employer might send her Yet because she was conscious of the duty she thus openly neglected she sat crouched over her desk with her hand on the mysterious packet the string of which however she made no effort to loosen What was she thinking of We are not alone in our curiosity on this subject Her brother Arthur coming unperceived into the room gives tokens of a similar interest Never before had he seen her oblivious to an approaching step and after a momentary contemplation of her absorbed figure so girlishly sweet and yet so deeply intent he advances to her side and peering earnestly into her face observes with a seriousness quite unusual to him Puss you are looking worried not like yourself at all I've noticed it for some time What's up Getting tired of the business No not altogether that is it's not that if it's anything I'm not sure that it's anything I Publisher and Bookseller, 1896 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series Opening a chestnut burr Edward
