Atheism for Christians Benjamin Thomas Jones, 2016-02-17 What can Mary

Wollstonecraft teach Christians about sexual ethics Can John Stuart Mill help the church understand toleration Are there lessons for the Christian world from writers like Marx Nehru Shelley Popper and Hume Atheism for Christians looks at the work of some of the most influential secular thinkers and asks what Christians can learn without giving up their faith or core values Looking at important modern issues such as gender equality same sex marriage creationism and evolution abortion universal health biblical literalism and religious tribalism this work offers a fresh perspective on old questions The Bible says the value of wisdom is far above rubies It should not matter where that wisdom comes from The Christian world should be able to celebrate and learn from the intellectual giants in the secular tradition just as atheists can still appreciate the great academic and artistic contribution of Christianity The nexus between faith and reason is sometimes stretched but should never be abandoned Atheism for Christians offers a unique insight into the work of some of the greatest secular thinkers and argues there is much to learn

Daniel Fasting

Why should we fast? The objective of fasting should be to take off our eyes from the worldly things and rather focus on the God. Fasting is a way to demonstrate to ourselves and to God that we are serious about our relationship with Him. Fasting helps us to gain a renewed reliance and a new perspective of God. What can we have to fast from? Although fasting in Scripture almost always means a fasting from food, there are other ways for fasting. Anything that we can give up temporarily to focus on God better can be considered a fast. Some people might not be able to fast from food such as diabetics, but every person can give up something temporarily to focus on the God. Example: TV, Caffeine, Smoking etc.

What fasting is not: Fasting is not intended for punishing our flesh but for focusing on God. Fasting should not be considered as a dieting method; do not fast for losing weight but instead to gain a deeper association with God. Fasting is not a means to get the God in order to do what we want; fasting will change us, not the God.

How to fast: attitude. Fasting is to be done with a spirit of modesty and joyful attitude. We should not appear depressed when we fast or boast about the length of fast. Fasting is not to show off but to afflict our soul in order that our Father in the heaven will answer our prayer. We should spend as much time in meditation, prayer and reading the Word as possible. It is important for drawing greatly on strength of Lord during our fast.
