Wilson, 2021-03-04 Both the special sciences and ordinary experience suggest that there are metaphysically emergent entities and features macroscopic goings on including mountains trees humans and sculptures and their characteristic properties which depend on yet are distinct from and distinctively efficacious with respect to lower level physical configurations and features These appearances give rise to two key questions First what is metaphysical emergence more precisely Second is there any metaphysical emergence in principle and moreover in fact Metaphysical Emergence provides clear and systematic answers to these questions Wilson argues that there are two and only two forms of metaphysical emergence of the sort seemingly at issue in the target cases Weak emergence whereby a dependent feature has a proper subset of the powers of the feature upon which it depends and Strong emergence whereby a dependent feature has a power not had by the feature upon which it depends Weak emergence unifies and illuminates seemingly diverse accounts of non reductive physicalism Strong emergence does the same as regards seemingly diverse anti physicalist views positing fundamental novelty at higher levels of compositional complexity After defending the in principle viability of each form of emergence Wilson considers whether complex systems ordinary objects consciousness and free will are actually metaphysically emergent She argues that Weak emergence is quite common and that there is Strong emergence in the important case of free will
