Museums And Their Communities Museums And Their Communities:

Museums and Their Communities Sheila E. R. Watson, 2007 Using case studies drawn from all areas of museum studies Museums and their Communities explores the museums as a site of representation identity and memory and considers how it can influence its community Focusing on the museum as an institution and its social and cultural setting Sheila Watson examines how museums use their roles as informers and educators to empower or to ignore communities Looking at the current debates about the role of the museum she considers contested values in museum functions and examines provision power ownership responsibility and institutional issues This book is of great relevance for all disciplines as it explores and questions the role of the museum in modern society Museums and Communities Viv Golding, Wayne Modest, 2013-08-15 This edited volume critically engages with contemporary scholarship on museums and their engagement with the communities they purport to serve and represent Foregrounding new curatorial strategies it addresses a significant gap in the available literature exploring some of the complex issues arising from recent approaches to collaboration between museums and their communities The book unpacks taken for granted notions such as scholarship community participation and collaboration which can gloss over the complexity of identities and lead to tokenistic claims of inclusion by museums Over sixteen chapters well respected authors from the US Australia and Europe offer a timely critique to address what happens when museums put community minded principles into practice challenging readers to move beyond shallow notions of political correctness that ignore vital difference in this contested field Contributors address a wide range of key issues asking pertinent questions such as how museums negotiate the complexities of integrating collaboration when the target community is a living fluid changeable mass of people with their own agendas and agency When is engagement real as opposed to symbolic who benefits from and who drives initiatives What particular challenges and benefits do artist collaborations bring Recognising the multiple perspectives of community participants is one thing but how can museums incorporate this successfully into exhibition practice Students of museum and cultural studies practitioners and everyone who cares about museums around the world will find this volume essential reading Museums and Their Communities Eila Macqueen, University of Newcastle upon Tyne. Department of Archaeology, 1999 Communities and Museums in the 21st Century Karen Brown, Alissandra Cummins, Ana S. González Rueda, 2023-08-18 Communities and Museums in the 21st Century brings together innovative multidisciplinary perspectives on contemporary museology and participatory museum practice that contribute to wider debates on museum communities heritage and sustainability Set within the context of globalisation and decolonisation this book draws upon bi regional research that will enrich our understanding of the complex relationships between Europe Latin America and the Caribbean through museum studies and practice Chapters reflect upon the role of museums in defining community identities the importance of young people s participation and intergenerational work for sustainability the role of museums in local development and community based museums and climate change

Contributors examine these issues through the lens of museum partnerships and practices as well as testing the continued relevance of the notion of integral museum and its relatives in the form of ecomuseums. With its focus on regional museums in Latin America and Caribbean, this book highlights how the case studies promote greater intercultural dialogue, global understanding and social cohesion. It also demonstrates how the methodology can be adapted to other communities who are facing the perils of climate change and unsustainable forms of development. Communities and Museums in the 21st Century proposes creative and sustainable strategies relevant to a globalised future. With its focus on global societal challenges, this book will appeal to museologists and museum practitioners as well as those working in heritage studies, cultural studies, memory studies, art history, gender studies and sustainable development. Regional Museums and Their Communities Marian Casey, 2014 Museums and Source Communities Alison K. Brown, Laura Peers, 2005-06-28 This volume combines some of the most influential published research in this emerging field with newly commissioned essays on the issues, problems and lessons involved in collaborating museums and source communities. Focusing on museums in the UK, North America and the Pacific, the book highlights three areas which demonstrate the new developments most clearly: the museum as field site or contact zone, a place which source community members enter for purposes of consultation and collaboration; visual repatriation: the use of photography to return images of ancestors, historical moments and material heritage to source communities; exhibition case studies: these are discussed to reveal the implications of cross-cultural and collaborative research for museums and how such projects have challenged established attitudes and practices. As the first overview of its kind, this collection will be essential reading for museum staff working with source communities, for community members involved with museum programmes and for students and academics in museum studies and social anthropology. Engaging Communities in Museums David Allison, 2019-10-24 Engaging Communities in Museums is designed for museum professionals who are hungry for information about how to design experiences in partnership with their communities. Providing an overview of the many ways that museums around the world have begun to listen more attentively to their audience, the book highlights the importance of listening to community and discusses the idea of relationship building as an entry point to relevancy. Drawing on interviews and discussions with museum professionals around the world as well as tangible real-world examples, Allison showcases the many ways that museums, both large and small, are actively working with their communities and also provides a roadmap that demonstrates how museum professionals can listen more effectively to their audiences as they craft new experiences. The book also explores the fascinating nexus of community engagement and exhibit and experience development, thus taking museum professionals on a journey of discovery around community responsiveness and attention to audience. Engaging Communities in Museums provides a thorough comparison of development models from disparate venues, making the book a must-read for museum professionals who are looking for purpose and common sense techniques that can guide their work with the communities that they serve Students in museum studies courses will also find the text useful as a primer on community engagement in museums      The Economic Impact of Museums on Their Communities Joy Leach, Jay S. Pennay,2020-12-15 Museums have long sought to maintain relevance in the daily lives of their communities Over the past several decades museums have shifted as a field from a focus on collections to a focus on connecting with audiences More recently museums must confront political polarization and a decreasing sense of trust in nearly every public institution As a result few institutions are better positioned to serve the country than museums In fact polls show that museums rank among the most trusted institutions in the country regardless of political belief During tumultuous times this trust means that museums have a unique and important responsibility to fulfill their civic mission A century ago John Cotton Dana argued that the most important thing a museum can do is produce a public benefit The Civic Mission of Museums argues that museums play an essential role in the cultivation of engaged and informed citizens The book outlines a spectrum of civic learning that includes civic knowledge civic mindset civic skillset and civic action It offers concrete examples of impactful civic programming exhibits and public engagement from a diverse set of museums It ends with a practical toolkit gleaned from across the country for museum professionals to utilize
