Musical Thought Chicago Studies Ethnomusicology:

Music and Musical Thought in Early India Lewis Eugene Rowell, 1992 Offering a broad perspective of the philosophy theory and aesthetics of early Indian music and musical ideology this study makes a unique contribution to our knowledge of the ancient foundations of India's musical culture Lewis Rowell reconstructs the tunings scales modes rhythms gestures formal patterns and genres of Indian music from Vedic times to the thirteenth century presenting not so much a history as a thematic analysis and interpretation of India's magnificent musical heritage In Indian culture music forms an integral part of a broad framework of ideas that includes philosophy cosmology religion literature and science Rowell works with the known theoretical treatises and the oral tradition in an effort to place the technical details of musical practice in their full cultural context Many quotations from the original Sanskrit appear here in English translation for the first time and the necessary technical information is presented in terms accessible to the nonspecialist These features combined with Rowell's glossary of Sanskrit terms and extensive bibliography make Music and Musical Thought in Early India an excellent introduction for the general reader and an indispensable reference for ethnomusicologists historical musicologists music theorists and Indologists

New Mansions for Music Lakshmi Subramanian, 2008 The essays in New Mansions for Music Performance Pedagogy and Criticism look at one of the most ancient and rigorous classical musical traditions of India the Karnatik music system and the kind of changes it underwent once it was relocated from traditional spaces of temples and salons to the public domain Nineteenth century Madras led the way in the transformation that Karnatik music underwent as it encountered the forces of modernization and standardization This study also contributes to our understanding of the experience of modernity in India through the prism of music The role of Madras city as patron and custodian of the performing arts especially classical music offers an invaluable perspective on the larger processes of modernization in India As the title suggests the areas of classical music which were most influenced by these developments were pedagogy or modes of musical transmission performance conventions and criticism or music appreciation Once the urban elite demanded the widening of the teaching of classical music traditional modes of music instruction underwent a major change involving a breakdown of the gurushishya parampara or the tradition wherein the teacher imparted knowledge to a chosen few Caste and kinship were important determining factors for the selection of these shishyas or students but in modern institutions like the universities these boundaries had to be demolished Simultaneously the public staging of music brought the performer into a new relationship with his audience especially as the art form became subject to validation and criticism by the newly emerging music critic In an immensely readable book peppered with anecdotes and conversations with leading musicians and critics of the day as well as humorous visual representations part caricature part satirical the author describes a rapidly changing society and its new look in early twentieth century Madras
