Transformational Leadership Bernard M. Bass, 1998 The culmination of a long standing research effort by the author this book provides the reader with a portion of the research and development that has been completed about transformational leadership In less than 20 years the subject has caught the attention of scholars students and practicing leaders Although the book draws heavily from military research findings in business organizations educational institutions government agencies and hospitals are not ignored because the principles of transformational leadership have considerable generality Situational differences are discussed and a general model of transformational and transactional leadership describing the consequences is presented In a nutshell the author shows that transformational leadership is more effective and satisfying than constructive transactions and constructive transactions are more effective and satisfying than corrective ones Passive leadership is least effective and satisfying Leaders use all these approaches but some do more than others in how they lead Better leaders are transformational more frequently less adequate leaders concentrate on correction and passivity Transformational Leadership Second Edition is intended for both the scholars and serious students of leadership It is a comprehensive review of theorizing and empirical research that can serve as a reference and starting point for additional research on the theory It can be used as a supplementary textbook in an intense course on leadership or as a primary text in a course or seminar focusing on transformational leadership New in the Second Edition New updated examples of leadership have been included to help illustrate the concepts as well as show the broad range of transformational leadership in a variety of settings New chapters have been added focusing specifically on the measurement of transformational leadership and transformational leadership and effectiveness The discussion of both predictors and effects of transformational leadership is greatly expanded Much more emphasis is given to authentic vs inauthentic transformational leadership Suggestions are made for guiding the future of research and applications of transformational leadership A greatly expanded reference list is included

Maurer,2010 To meet the transformation objectives of the United States Army over the coming decades the Army must have leaders or potential leaders who continuously pursue development of leadership skills and who are flexible and adaptable through their involvement in self initiated development and learning experiences A key first step in this process is to develop constructs and assessment methods including a network of related constructs that would help establish construct validity In this vein the goal of this basic research was to initiate development of new constructs and assessment methods that are central to the process of motivating leadership development The motivation to develop leadership constructs measured in this research is conceptually and empirically distinguishable from other relevant constructs and provides utility above and beyond other existing constructs in relation to leadership development behavior and career success The Army might explore the use of these measures as diagnostic tools prior to investing in leadership development To the extent that these measures predict effectiveness in adapting to leadership roles or learning and developing necessary skills these tools might be used in selection and placement within the Army DTIC
