A Plea for Plausibility John R. Welch,2023-03-17 This book develops an original theory of decision making based on the concept of plausibility The author advocates plausible reasoning as a general philosophical method and demonstrates how it can be applied to problems in argumentation theory scientific theory choice risk management ethics law economics and epistemology Human decisions are conditioned by formidable uncertainty The standard resource for dealing rationally with uncertainty is the mathematical concept of probability The probability calculus is well known but since the numerical demands for applying it cannot usually be met it is not widely applicable By contrast the concept of plausibility is widely applicable but it is little known This book relies on a generalized concept of plausibility whose strength is its adaptability The adaptability is due to a novel form of decision theory that takes plausibilities as inputs This form of decision theory remains applicable to decisions informed by sharp probabilities and utilities but it can also be applied to decisions that must be made without them It can aid in the rationally critical enterprise of discriminating good arguments from bad and this can foster philosophical progress A Plea for Plausibility will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in argumentation theory philosophy of science ethics epistemology economics law and risk management

Argumentative Writing in a Second Language Alan R. Hirvela,Diane Belcher,2021-12-13 Argumentative Writing in a Second Language is a collection on teaching argumentative writing offering multiple vantage points drawn from the contributors own teaching and research experiences The value of learning how to compose argumentative texts cannot be overstated and yet very little attention has been allocated to the equally important topic of how argumentation is or can be taught in the L2 context Thus this volume shifts attention to teachers and argumentative writing instruction especially within increasingly common multimodal and digital literacy settings While doing so it provides a comprehensive wide ranging view of the L2 argumentative writing landscape within an instructional lens Part I of the volume is topic oriented and focuses on explorations of important issues and perspectives while Part II features several chapters reporting classroom based studies of a variety of instructional approaches that expand our understanding of how argumentative writing can be taught The book will be of value to pre service and in service teachers in varying instructional contexts as well as teacher educators and L2 writing scholars researchers Advances in Mathematics Education Research on Proof and Proving Andreas J.

Walton,1992 Appeals to emotion pity fear popular sentiment and ad hominem attacks are commonly used in argumentation Instead of dismissing these appeals as fallacious wherever they occur as many do Walton urges that each use be judged on its merits He distinguished three main categories of evaluation First is it reasonable even if not conclusive as an argument Second is it weak and therefore open to critical questioning for argument And third is it fallacious The third category is a strong charge that incurs a critical burden to back it up by citing evidence from the given text and context of dialogue Walton uses fifty six case studies to demonstrate that the problem of emotional fallacies is much subtler than has been previously believed Ranging over commercial advertisements political debates union management negotiations and ethical disputes the case studies reveal that these four types of appeals while based on presumptive reasoning that are tentative and subject to default are not always or necessarily fallacious types of argumentation

The Dialectical Forge Walter Edward Young,2016-12-13 The Dialectical Forge identifies dialectical disputation jadal as a primary formative dynamic in the evolution of pre modern Islamic legal systems promoting dialectic from relative obscurity to a more appropriate position at the forefront of Islamic legal studies. The author introduces and develops a dialectics based analytical method for the study of pre modern Islamic legal argumentation. It examines parallels and divergences between Aristotelian dialectic and early juridical jadal theory and proposes a multi component paradigm the Dialectical Forge Model to account for the power of jadal in shaping Islamic law and legal theory. In addition to overviews of current evolutionary narratives for Islamic legal theory and dialectic and expositions on key texts this work shines an analytical light upon the considerably sophisticated proto system of juridical dialectical teaching and practice evident in Islam's second century. Several generations before the first full system treatises of legal and dialectical theory were composed. This proto system is revealed from analyses of dialectical sequences in the 2nd 8th century Kitab al-Ikhtilaf al-Qiyas. The subject text through a lens molded from 5th 11th century jadal theory treatises the lens texts. Specific features thus uncovered inform the elaboration of a Dialectical Forge Model whose more general components and functions are explored in closing chapters.
