Musical Listening in the Age of Technological Reproduction Gianmario Borio, 2016-04-29 It is undeniable that technology has made a tangible impact on the nature of musical listening The new media have changed our relationship with music in a myriad of ways not least because the experience of listening can now be prolonged at will and repeated at any time and in any space Moreover among the more striking social phenomena ushered in by the technological revolution one cannot fail to mention music's current status as a commodity and popular music's unprecedented global reach In response to these new social and perceptual conditions the act of listening has diversified into a wide range of patterns of behaviour which seem to resist any attempt at unification Concentrated listening the form of musical reception fostered by Western art music now appears to be but one of the many ways in which audiences respond to organized sound Cinema for example has developed specific ways of combining images and sounds and more recently digital technology has redefined the standard forms of mass communication Information is aestheticized and music in turn is incorporated into pre-existing symbolic fields This volume the first in the series Musical Cultures of the Twentieth Century offers a wide-ranging exploration of the relations between sound technology and listening practices considered from the complementary perspectives of art music and popular music music theatre and multimedia composition and performance ethnographic and anthropological research

Sync or Swarm, Revised Edition David Borgo, 2022-02-10 The revised edition of Sync or Swarm promotes an ecological view of musicking moving us from a subject-centered to a system-centered view of improvisation It explores cycles of organismic self-regulation cycles of sensorimotor coupling between organism and environment and cycles of intersubjective interaction mediated via socio-technological networks Chapters funnel outward from the solo improviser Evan Parker to nonlinear group dynamics Sam Rivers trio to networks that comprise improvisational communities to pedagogical dynamics that affect how individuals learn completing the hermeneutic circle Winner of the Society for Ethnomusicology's Alan Merriam prize in its first edition the revised edition features new sections that highlight electro-acoustic and transcultural improvisation and concomitant issues of human-machine interaction and postcolonial studies Creativity and Robotics
