Music As a Human Need Alma Webster Powell,2014-07-14

From the Preface IT will be observed that in the following pages political and economic events are presented in their aspect of emotion producing forces in social pressure with but scant attention to their other values An artificially selective process must also be acknowledged in that of those events only such as seem to have produced a direct emotional reaction upon a people have been considered Those long continued economic movements which produced no sudden changes have not been taken into account because what may be termed their disturbing effects were too gradual to allow of their being included among specific emotion making forces slow changes are not sensed by whole peoples Uneducated masses especially do not become conscious of progressive movements until their effects are so apparent as to require consideration by reason of aroused emotional reaction The history of a slow transition therefore may be for the scientific purposes of this investigation unimportant as compared with the somewhat dislocated perturbation which resulted at the moment when the events under consideration were happening and calling forth a reaction definitely emotional Moreover at such a precise moment the events may have been raised to social consciousness not as they appear to us in the clear afterlight of scientific attitude and historical accuracy but as popular concepts of the moment having power to arouse intense national emotional reaction similar recent popular waves of feeling due not to facts as they are but to popular conceptions of such facts will readily occur to each reader With this warning that not the dignity of history but the intensity of public emotionalism is within the purview and area of our investigation we may proceed to a statement of the method and of the general thesis The method to be pursued is to examine contemporaneous and concurrent public events and emotion products as expressed in Music The results indicated may be given a preliminary statement as follows 1 Agitation is a cause of pulse disturbance 2 Sufficient agitation produces fatal disturbance of bodily rhythm 3 All strong emotions are disturbers of rhythmic motion throughout the body 4 Rhythmic motion too often disturbed leads to abnormal mental and physical conditions 5 Civilization constantly disturbs the bodily rhythm 6 The political and industrial troubles of a nation are signs of national disturbance of rhythm 7 Music closely expressing the emotional life of each period is the unconscious application of a remedy to a human need of rhythmic stimulus These points are part of the general thesis which may be stated in the following terms MUSIC IS A HUMAN NEED INCREASING AND DECREASING WITH SOCIAL PRESSURE The tendency of a group in each stage of human development is to produce Music fitting the character of the social disturbances of its time and communities which most fully meet this need of rhythm by national culture of Music tend to preserve for longer periods the serenity of the public mind Thus it will be seen that national control and support of Music may be assumed to be a national duty This control and support will aid in the preservation of a healthy state of the public mind Such a condition will make more effective all other efforts for the abolition of discontent disease vice and criminality

Webster Hall Powell,1914 Music as a Human Need Alma Webster Hall Powell,2025-03-29 Music as a Human Need A Plea for Free National Instruction in Music by Alma Webster Powell makes a powerful case for accessible music education This historical text meticulously prepared for print republication argues for the essential role of music in cultural development and individual fulfillment Powell passionately advocates for free national instruction in music believing it to be a fundamental human need The book explores the importance of music appreciation and the profound impact of national music on society A valuable resource for those interested in music education instruction and the broader role of arts in education This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant What Constitutes Good Church Music? Thomas Whitney Surette,1896 Defining Waka Musically Christopher Hepburn,2023-08-30 This book considers how music musicality and ideologies of musicality are working within the specific construction of waka on the theme of male love in Kitamura Kigin s Iwatsutsuji 1676 and Ihara Saikaku s Nanshoku kagami 1687 by using a modified generative theory of music This modified theory seeks to get at the interdependent meanings that may exist among the music image and the text of the waka in question In all this study guides the reader through five waka on the theme of male love and demonstrates not only how each waka is inherently musical but how the image and text may interdependently relate to the ways in which premodern Japanese song poets may not only have thought in and with sound but may have also utilized a diverse array of musical gestures to construct new objects of knowledge In the case of this study these new objects of knowledge seem to have aided in situating a changing musicopoetics that aligned with changing constructions of male desire Music as a human need: A plea for free national instruction in music Alma Webster Hall Powell,2023-07-10 In Music as a Human Need A Plea for Free National Instruction in Music Alma Webster Hall Powell eloquently advocates for the essential role of music education in fostering human development and expression Her literary style blends impassioned rhetoric with empirical evidence creating a compelling narrative that underscores music s universal significance across cultures and its cognitive and emotional benefits Contextually Powell s work emerges during a time when music education was often undervalued emphasizing the necessity for systemic change to integrate music into the national curriculum thereby enriching the educational landscape Alma Webster Hall Powell a pioneering figure in music education draws from her extensive experience as a teacher and composer to craft this urgent manifesto Her life s work embodies a commitment to democratizing access to music instruction informed by a profound understanding of how music shapes individuals and societies alike Powell s insights are rooted in the belief that musical literacy is not a privilege but a fundamental human right reflecting her dedication to uplifting communities through the arts This book is essential reading for educators policymakers and anyone passionate about the arts as Powell's vision remains relevant today With its powerful arguments and passionate plea for societal change Music as a Human Need serves as both a historical document and a call to action urging readers to recognize and champion music education as a crucial aspect of human flourishing

Karl Rahner's Writings on Literature, Music and the Visual Arts Karl Rahner (s.j.),2023-03-23 This book is made up of a collection of texts unavailable in one volume until now including six previously untranslated essays from a major theologian of the twentieth century Rahner's numerous writings focused on the revelation of God as mystery in the world and on the human being who has an essential openness towards the transcendent His articles reveal an empathy and a depth of insight into the relationship between theology faith and the arts which are remarkable and may take the reader by surprise More recently Rahner's contribution to the growing field of theology and the arts has been recognised by leading theologians on this subject He asserts that theology must integrate the verbal and non verbal arts as they are authentic means of human self expression of religious experience and of God's self communication and therefore they are essential sources of theology Rahner argues that theology understood as a person's reflexive self expression about him or herself in the light of divine revelation cannot be regarded as complete until the arts become an intrinsic moment of theology itself
