Computer-based Mathematical environments [10] is a book that has been developed to support the teaching of mathematics in the first year of the degree in Mathematics and Computing Science at the University of the Basque Country. It is a collection of computer programs that help to understand the basic concepts of mathematics, such as sets, functions, limits, derivatives, integrals, etc. The book is divided into several chapters, each of which contains a series of exercises and problems. The exercises are designed to be solved using a computer, and the problems are designed to be solved by hand. The book is intended for students who are learning mathematics for the first time, and it is also suitable for students who are already familiar with the subject but want to reinforce their understanding.
