ExtraSolar Planets – Student Guide

Background Material

Complete the following sections after reviewing the background pages entitled Introduction, Doppler Shift, Center of Mass, and ExtraSolar Planet Detection.

Question 1: Label the positions on the star's orbit with the letters corresponding to the labeled positions of the radial velocity curve. Remember, the radial velocity is positive when the star is moving away from the earth and negative when the star is moving towards the earth.

Question 2: Label the positions on the planet's orbit with the letters corresponding to the labeled positions of the radial velocity curve. Hint: the radial velocity in the plot is still that of the star, so for each of the planet positions determine where the star would be and in which direction it would be moving.

Robotics, AI, and Humanity Joachim von Braun, Margaret S. Archer, Gregory M. Reichberg, Marcelo Sánchez Sorondo, 2021-02-12 This open access book examines recent advances in how artificial intelligence AI and robotics have elicited widespread debate over their benefits and drawbacks for humanity. The emergent technologies have for instance implications within medicine and health care, employment, transport, manufacturing, agriculture and armed conflict. While there has been considerable attention devoted to robotics AI applications in each of these domains a fuller picture of their connections and the possible consequences for our shared humanity seems needed. This volume covers multidisciplinary research examines current research frontiers in AI robotics and likely impacts on societal well-being. Human-robot relationships as well as the opportunities and risks for sustainable development and peace. The attendant ethical and religious dimensions of these technologies are addressed and implications for regulatory policies on the use and future development of AI robotics technologies are elaborated.

Health Care in Rural South Africa Adri Vermeir, 2006 This book describes research to evaluate health care programmes in rural areas of South Africa. This is done to show how evidence based research can be carried out in circumstances with limited possibilities and what kind of results such research can produce. The research projects concern effects of a nutrition programme, an AIDS prevention programme, the quality of life of children with HIV/AIDS and the effects of a developmental stimulation programme for children with neurological disorders. In addition to this the book contains a number of chapters which provide the reader with insight into the perspectives of health care developments in South Africa and how research could contribute to the improvement of health care in a developing country.

New York Magazine, 1993-01-11 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

Indian Blood Andrew J. Jolivette, 2016-06-01 Finalist for the 2017 Lambda Literary Lammy Award in LGBTQ Studies. The first book to examine the correlation between mixed race identity and HIV/AIDS among Native American gay men and transgendered people. Indian Blood provides an analysis of the emerging and often contested LGBTQ two-spirit identification as it relates to public health and mixed race identity. Prior to contact with European settlers most Native American tribes held their two-spirit members in high esteem even considering them spiritually advanced. However after contact and religious conversion attitudes changed.

and social and cultural support networks were ruptured. This discrimination led to a breakdown in traditional values, beliefs and practices which in turn pushed many two spirit members to participate in high risk behaviors. The result is a disproportionate number of two spirit members who currently test positive for HIV. Using surveys, focus groups and community discussions to examine the experiences of HIV positive members of San Francisco's two spirit community, Indian Blood provides an innovative approach to understanding how colonization continues to affect American Indian communities and opens a series of crucial dialogues in the fields of Native American studies, public health, queer studies and critical mixed race studies. Building Science, Technology, and Innovation Capacity in Rwanda Alfred J. Watkins, Anubha Verma, 2008

Even a subsistence agricultural economy such as Rwanda needs to develop science, technology and innovation STI capacity if it hopes to solve such everyday practical problems as providing energy and clean drinking water to rural villages and competing in the global economy by producing and selling higher value goods and services. This book provides new insights into the capacity building process and shows that STI capacity building is not a luxury activity suitable primarily for wealthy countries but an absolute necessity for poor countries that hope to become richer. Securing Rice, Reducing Poverty A. Arab American Children with Disabilities Jamal M. Al Khatib, 2016-07-22 Despite a proliferation of special education literature on racial minorities over the past three decades, research and writing on Arab American children with disabilities remain remarkably sparse. This book fills that gap by promoting culturally appropriate services for Arab American children with disabilities. Special education and service providers in the U.S. including school psychologists, rehabilitation counselors and social workers are increasingly likely to work with Arab Americans with disabilities. By focusing on this marginalized minority population, Al Khatib provides much needed context and direction for service providers and researchers working with the Arab American community. Offering an overview of special education and the rights guaranteed under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), this book also helps Arab American families understand the special education process and advocate for their children.
