Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story Heather Ostman, Howard Tinberg, Danizete Martínez, 2021-12-01
Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story explores the intersection between immigration and pedagogy via the narrative form Embedded in the contexts of both student writing and student reading of literature chapters by scholars from four year and two year colleges and universities across the country this book engages the topic of immigration within writing and literature courses as the site for extending critiquing and challenging assumptions about justice and equity while deepening students sense of ethics and humanity Each of the chapters recognizes the prevalence of immigrant students in writing classrooms across the United States including foreign born first and second generation Americans and more and the myriad opportunities and challenges those students present to their instructors These contributors have seen the validity in the stories and experiences these students bring to the classroom evidence of their lifetimes of complex learning in both academic and nonacademic settings Like thousands of college level instructors in the United States they have immigrant stories of their own The immigrant narrative offers a unique framework for knowledge production in which students and teachers may learn from each other in which the ordinary power dynamic of teacher and students begins to shift to enable empathy to emerge and to provide space for an authentic kind of pedagogy By engaging writing and literature teachers within and outside the classroom Teaching Writing through the Immigrant Story speaks to the immigrant narrative as a viable frame for teaching writing an opportunity for building and articulating knowledge through academic discourse The book creates a platform for immigration as a writing and literary theme a framework for critical thinking and a foundation for significant social change and advocacy Contributors Tuli Chatterji Katie Daily Bruckner Libby Garland Silvia Giagnoni Sibylle Gruber John Havard Timothy Henderson Brennan Herring Lilian Mina Rachel Pate Emily Schnee Elizabeth Stone
