One World The Interaction Of Science And Theology:

One World John C. Polkinghorne, 2009-07-23 John C Polkinghorne's renowned trilogy on the compatibility of religion and science is back in print. One World originally published in 1986 introduces issues in science and religion that Dr Polkinghorne subsequently continued in Science and Providence and Science and Creation. The books have been widely acclaimed individually and as a series. In the new preface to One World, Dr Polkinghorne assesses his original writing of this book, pointing to themes that have remained important to his thinking and topics that have been expanded and modified through recent scientific discoveries. In fact, he contends, in today's postmodern culture the issue of what we can know and how we can gain knowledge is one of even greater criticality than it was in 1986. Both science and religion explore aspects of reality, providing a basis for their mutual interaction as they present their different perspectives onto the one world of existent reality. Polkinghorne argues. In One World, he develops his thesis through an examination of the nature of science, the nature of the physical world, the character of theology, and the modes of thought in science and theology. He identifies points of interaction and points of potential conflict between science and religion. Along the way, he discusses creation, determinism, prayer, miracles, and future life, and he explains his rejection of scientific reductionism and his defense of natural theology. Science does not have an absolute superiority over other forms of knowledge, nor does religion have all the answers. Both are searching for the truth. Both explore the universe as it is and submit to the evidence before them. And both must be open to continual correction. We live in one world, Polkinghorne's insights continue to illuminate it as a world in which science and religion can stimulate and benefit each other.

One World Michael Foreman, 1992 The Anglican Imagination Robert Boak Slocum, 2016-03-03 The variety and depth of Anglican theology is best engaged through personal encounter with its many sources: the theologians and theological witnesses themselves. Anglican theology is often worked out in personal terms that provide a synthesis between reflection on the truths of faith and the particular contexts of culture and life. This book presents modern Anglican theology through a unique gallery. This theological gallery includes a portrait or sketch of ten Anglican writers: DuBose Farrer, Stringfellow Brooks, Kemper DeKoven, McCord Adams, Polkinghorne, Gore, and Macquarrie. Theological description, interpretation, and application are included for each, with the presentations differing as widely as the theologians and theological witnesses themselves. Drawing together understandings and experiences of faith, this will be an invaluable resource for students of Anglican theology and anyone who seeks to understand the distinctive perspectives and contributions of Anglicanism relative to living faith and daily life One world: the interaction of science and religion John POLKINGHORNE,1986 A

Science-Theology Rapprochement Cyril Orji,2018-10-12 This timely and fascinating work addresses questions of ultimate concerns for Christian believers by clarifying what religious believers statement God creates means in relation to the mechanistic determinism of science enthusiasts and the New Atheist Movement Drawing from the methodological works of C S Peirce Bernard Lonergan and Wolfhart Pannenberg the book creatively shows how the old science theology conflict or warfare can be turned into one of collaboration or rapprochement Using the works of these three thinkers it departs from the common practice of treating the field of science theology as an abstract mainstream theology The book takes a stand on contextual theology treating the problem posed by Richard Dawkins and his fellow New Atheists as one in need of a creative solution It also suggests that the dialogue between science and theology must take seriously the experiences and challenges from different social and cultural contexts The text shows how these experiences can lead to the kind of creative theological thinking we see in the works of Pannenberg and Lonergan who both explicate not only how an understanding of an evolutionary universe is compatible with the Christian doctrine of creation but also how a methodological comparison of science and theology reveals a common concern for human understanding and openness to divine agency The Freethinker ,1900 Embracing the Ivory Tower and Stained Glass Windows Jennifer Baldwin,2015-12-17 This book brings together contributions from scholars from Europe and the United States to honor the theological work of Antje Jackel n the first female Archbishop of the Church of Sweden In Archbishop Antje Jackel n s installation homily she identifies the strength of the Church as a global network of prayer threads This book is an honorary and celebratory volume providing a global network of prayerful essays by contributors from a variety of academic disciplines to creatively engage reflect and illuminate the theological work of Archbishop Jackel n Prior to her tenure in the Church of Sweden as Bishop of the Diocese of Lund and now the Archbishop of the Church of Sweden Jackel n served as professor of Systematic Theology Director of the Zygon Center and President of European Society for the Study of Science and Religion ESSSAT While each essay intentionally embraces the theological and ministerial work of Jackel n during her academic tenure they also venture into areas as diverse as climate change media studies human uniqueness hermeneutics time ethics Christian theological tradition and history traumatology politics and society As the first diverse explication of the theological thinking of Archbishop Jackel n by her theological colleagues this text provides scholars with an expansion of the scope of Archbishop Jackel n s theological thinking and initiates laity into the impact of Jackel n thinking that combines with grace and precision the traditions of the Church the challenges and gifts of the sciences and the needs and longings of society and the world On the Origin of Consciousness Scott D. G. Ventureyra,2018-11-29 Have you ever thought about how self consciousness self awareness originated in the universe Understanding consciousness is one of the toughest nuts to crack In recent years scientists and philosophers have attempted to provide an answer to this mystery The reason for this is simply because it cannot be confined to solely a materialistic interpretation of the world Some scientific materialists have suggested that consciousness is merely an illusion in order to insulate their worldviews Yet consciousness is the most fundamental thing we know even more so than the external world since we require it to perceive or think about anything Without it reasoning would be impossible Dr Scott Ventureyra in this ground breaking book explores the idea of the Christian God and Creation in order to tackle this most difficult question He demonstrates that theology has something significant to offer in reflection of how consciousness originated in the universe He also makes a modest claim that the Christian conception of God and Creation provide a plausible account for the origin of self consciousness He integrates philosophy theology and science in an innovative way to embark on this exploration

Science and Wisdom Jürgen Moltmann, 2003 Moltmann's new book offers a careful theological reading of our contemporary scientific worldview and directly addresses the related cultural dilemmas Moltmann begins by analyzing the identification of science with the modern spirit and the religious assumptions that inform Western science He affirms the positive side of scientific advancement sees the present crisis clearly and looks for wisdom that can guide our scientific and religious future The heart of Moltmann's work is a theological understanding and assessment of contemporary cosmology Core chapters look at creation as an open system the self emptying or kenosis of God in the history of the universe eschatology the problems of time and eternity and the idea of God and space In the final chapters he addresses specific questions in bioethics historical conflicts between religion and science and cosmology in a world religious context

Unlocking Divine Action Michael J. Dodds, 2012-09-26 A penetrating study of how the discoveries of contemporary science resonate with the thought of Thomas Aquinas to open a deeper understanding of God's action in the world publisher website

Fifty Years in Science and Religion Robert J. Russell, 2004 Ian G Barbour is the internationally acknowledged pioneer in the field of science and religion Although public opinion is often swayed by strident voices which attempt to place science and religion in conflict or keep them totally isolated Barbour's voluminous contributions over the past fifty years have carved out a trusted pathway to constructive dialogue and creative mutual interaction between science and religion Fifty Years in Science and Religion brings together nineteen leading scholars in the field to offer an appreciative yet critical assessment of the impact of Barbour's work on science and religion and to point ahead towards future critical areas goals and tasks that await new research and visionary exploration This book includes a unique autobiography by Barbour in which for the first time he shares and reflects on his life and work and a detailed bibliography of Barbour's works Together the authors demonstrate how Barbour's writings and the hundreds of scholars who have now become part of the field have changed the course of intellectual history in the West by making possible and necessary a truly constructive engagement between science and religion in the context of inter religious dialogue and the global human and environmental challenges of our time

Elenchus of Biblica , 1992 Physical Cosmology and

Philosophy John Leslie,1990 Belief Transformations Mikael Rothstein,1996 RENNER Studies on New Religions is an initiative supported by the Danish Research Council for the Humanities The series was established to publish books on alternative spiritual movements from a wide range of perspectives The books will appeal to an international readership of scholars students and professionals in the study of religion theology the arts and the social sciences It is hoped that this series will provide a proper context for scientific exchange between these often competing disciplines Simply stated the author's main contention is that the two newest religions under scrutiny TM and ISKCON are despite their common rootedness in Vedic Hinduism fundamentally opposed to each other As presented here they are fundamentally opposed particularly in their attitudes toward modern Western science which world affirming TM celebrates and would assimilate and world denying ISKCON rejects as an illusion in sum this book is both instructive and provocative C MacCormick Wells College

Lifelines Chris Mann,Adrian Craig,Julia Skeen,2006 The poems in this book evoke encounters with a number of living creatures primarily in southern Africa They range from the aardvark to the zebra and include dragonflies jellyfish kudu seahorses and warthogs The text invites the reader to consider animals not so much as beasts or feasts pets or threats but as our chromosome cousins The book embodies recent discoveries in the fields of evolutionary biology paleontology and astronomy These discoveries when taken together reveal how each animal is part of a lifeline that stretches back billions of years and is inseparable from the genesis of the cosmos as a whole
