Maximum PC, 2007-10 Maximum PC is the magazine that every computer fanatic, PC gamer or content creator must read. Each and every issue is packed with punishing product reviews, insightful and innovative how-to stories and the illuminating technical articles that enthusiasts crave. Live Stock Journal, 1899 Twiterville Shel Israel, 2009-09-03 Twitter is the most rapidly adopted communication tool in history, going from zero to ten million users in just over two years. On Twitter, word can spread faster than wildfire. Companies no longer have the option of ignoring the conversation. Unlike other hot social media spaces, Twiterville is dominated by professionals, not students. And despite its size, it still feels like a small town. Twitter allows people to interact much the way they do face-to-face: honestly and authentically. One minute you're complaining about the weather with local friends; the next you're talking shop with a colleague based halfway across the globe. No matter where you're from or what you do for a living, you will find conversations on Twitter that are valuable. Despite the millions of people joining the site, you'll quickly find the ones who can make a difference to you. Social media writer Shel Israel shares revealing stories of Twiterville residents: from CEOs to the student who became the first to report the devastation of the Szechuan earthquake; from visionaries trying to raise money for a cause to citizen journalists who outshine traditional media companies. Israel introduces you to trailblazers such as Frank Eliason who used Twitter to reverse Comcast's blemished customer service reputation; Bill Fergus who was on the team at Henry Ford Medical Center during the first live-tweeted surgery; Scott Monty, social media officer for Ford who held off a mob of misinformed Ranger fans and averted a PR crisis; Connie Reece who used Twitter to raise tens of thousands of dollars for cancer patients in need; The Coffee Groundz, a Houston area coffee shop that uses Twitter to pack the tables and fight off Starbucks. Twiterville features many true stories as dramatic as these. But it also recounts those of ordinary businesspeople who use Twitter to get closer to their customers. And it explains how global neighborhoods will make geography increasingly irrelevant. It even explains why people sometimes really do care what you had for lunch. Real-Time Analytics Byron Ellis, 2014-07-21 Construct a robust end-to-end solution for analyzing and visualizing streaming data. Highly significant market reactions both positive and negative are found for the HSI and the examined markets aggregate while Trump's native market showed the least responsiveness to his tweets. Apart from that, the obtained results suggest a fairly rapid processing of new information and thus adjustment of prices. Ever since Donald Trump's official inaugural address as the 45th president of the United States of America in January 2017, he has been cherishing a very polarizing and distinct way of leading the world's largest economy compared to his more recent predecessors. That leadership style is not least characterized by his preferred yet considering his position rather uncommon way of communicating to the outside world, namely his extensive use of microblogging service Twitter for presidential announcements and commentaries of any nature. Amongst others, a particularly high activity can be observed in conjunction with the rising political and economic tensions between the United States and China that have been intensifying over Trump's course of presidency. The dispute between the two economic superpowers comprises various topics such as the United States' massive and long-standing trade deficit and alleged intellectual property theft, ultimately leading to the imposition of a series of mutual tariffs worth hundreds of billions of U.S. dollars. And while Trump regularly keeps his followers updated about his thoughts, claims, and the statuses of trade negotiations, stock markets around the globe seem to react heavily to the developments of what is referred to as the US-China trade war. The question arises whether those unscheduled and seemingly impulsive short messages can be a causal explanation for recent stock market movements.
