Spaces of the Cinematic Home Eleanor Andrews,Stella Hockenhull,Fran Pheasant-Kelly,2015-07-24 This book examines the ways in which the house appears in films and the modes by which it moves beyond being merely a backdrop for action Specifically it explores the ways that domestic spaces carry inherent connotations that filmmakers exploit to enhance meanings and pleasures within film Rather than simply examining the representation of the house as national symbol auteur trait or in terms of genre contributors study various rooms in the domestic sphere from an assortment of time periods and from a diversity of national cinemas from interior spaces in ancient Rome to the Chinese kitchen from the animated house to the metaphor of the armchair in film noir Ideal homes, 1918-39 Deborah Sugg Ryan,2018-03-06 This book explores the aspirations and tastes of new suburban communities in interwar England for domestic architecture and design that was both modern and nostalgic in a period where homeownership became the norm. It investigates the ways in which new suburban class and gender identities were forged through the architecture, design and decoration of the home in choices such as ebony elephants placed on mantelpieces and modern Easiwork dressers in kitchens. Ultimately it argues that a specifically suburban modernism emerged which looked backwards to the past whilst looking forward to the future. Thus the inter war ideal home was both a retreat from the outside world and a site of change and experimentation. The book also examines how the interwar home is lived in today. It will appeal to academics and students in design, social and cultural history as well as a wider readership curious about interwar homes. A Cultural History of Furniture in the Modern Age Claire I. United States was a key moment for interior design. It not only saw the emergence of some of interior design's most globally important designers, it also saw the field of interior design emerge at last as a profession in its own right. Through a series of detailed case studies this book introduces the key practitioners of the period world renowned designers including Ray and Charles Eames, Richard Neutra and George Nelson and examines how they developed new approaches by applying systematic and rational principles to the creation of interior spaces. It takes us into the mind of the designer to show how they each used interior design to express their varied theoretical interests and reveals how the principles they developed have become embodied in the way interior design is practiced today. This focus on unearthing the underlying ideas and concepts behind their designs rather than on the finished results creates a richer more conceptual understanding of this pivotal period in modernist design history. With an extended introduction setting the case studies within the broader context of twentieth century design and architectural history this book provides both an introduction and an in depth analysis for students and scholars of interior design, architecture and design history.
