Open Dmis Manual:

Handbook of Intercultural Training Dan Landis, Janet Bennett, Janet Marie Bennett, Milton J. Bennett, 2004 This handbook deals with the question of how people can best live and work with others who come from very different cultural backgrounds. Handbook of Intercultural Training provides an overview of current trends and issues in the field of intercultural training. Contributors represent a wide range of disciplines including psychology, interpersonal communication, human resource management, international management, anthropology, social work, and education. Twenty-four chapters all new to this edition cover an array of topics including training for specific contexts, instrumentation and methods, and training design.

Free and Open Source Software and Technology for Sustainable Development Sulayman K.

Sowe, Govindan Parayil, Atsushi Sunami, 2012 A global collection of experts in social, natural, and human sciences with contributions from researchers and practitioners in both developing and developed countries cover the theoretical and practical implications of FOSS technologies. While FOSS development, education, and business potentials may appear as a phenomenon for the developed world, a sizable number of developing countries have implemented FOSS policies of their own. Empirical and anecdotal evidence continues to demonstrate the potential of FOSS technologies for giving people the opportunity to participate actively in the development and shaping of their own technology, stimulating the growth of indigenous software industries creating local jobs and lowering technology acquisition and deployment costs.
