Technology in Physical Activity and Health Promotion Zan Gao, 2017-05-08 As technology becomes an ever more prevalent part of everyday life and population based physical activity programmes seek new ways to increase lifelong engagement with physical activity so the two have become increasingly linked. This book offers a thorough critical examination of emerging technologies in physical activity and health considering technological interventions within the dominant theoretical frameworks exploring the challenges of integrating technology into physical activity promotion and offering solutions for its implementation. Technology in Physical Activity and Health Promotion occupies a broadly positive stance toward interactive technology initiatives and while discussing some negative implications of an increased use of technology offers practical recommendations for promoting physical activity through a range of media including social media mobile apps, global positioning and geographic information systems, wearables, active videogames, exergaming, virtual reality settings. Offering a logical and clear critique of technology in physical activity and health promotion this book will serve as an essential reference for upper level undergraduates, postgraduate students and scholars working in public health, physical activity and health and kinesiology and healthcare professionals.

Launch! Advertising and Promotion in Real Time

Michael Solomon, 2009 Launch Advertising and Promotion is written for advertising and promotion courses taught to students in the business school and journalism mass communication students. This textbook is the first of its kind to teach advertising concepts by reverse engineering a real advertising campaign from beginning to end. In April 2007, SS K an innovative New York City communications agency launched the first ever branding campaign for msnbc.com with the tag A Fuller Spectrum of News. Launch follows that campaign from initial agency pitch through roll out of print and media assets to post campaign analysis. Throughout it exposes readers to the theory and concepts of advertising and promotion and the personalities and decisions that drove this campaign. The book takes a rare look behind the curtain even letting you see some of the paths not chosen by the agency and client. Students get a realistic sense of how theory plays out in practice and get a flavor for the exciting field of advertising and promotion. And they consistently learn the perspectives of both the advertising agency where many journalism and communications students will work and the client where many marketing majors will work. This is a unique book with a unique perspective by a unique author team and you won't find this kind of insight in any other text on the market. We think you're going to love it. This textbook has been used in classes at Ball State University, Emerson College, Florida Institute of Technology, Grand Valley State University, Johnson County Community College, Manchester Business School, McLennan Community College, Michigan State University, North Hennepin Community College, Pierce College, Rochester Institute of Technology, Saint Louis University, Salem State College, South Dakota State University, Texas State University, Texas Tech University, University of New Hampshire, University of North Carolina, University of Notre Dame, University of South Florida, Virginia Tech, Western Kentucky University.

Promotion in the Merchandising

Environment Kristen K. Swanson, Judith C. Everett, 2000 This comprehensive guide introduces promotion strategies and techniques that can be used in a fashion environment or transferred to other disciplines or product categories. Using international examples the book takes a global perspective. An Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC) point of view is present throughout. In addition to covering the role and organisational structure of promotion and advertising and the creative elements involved the text examines all the components of the promotion mix. Unlike other books in the field it considers both personal and non personal techniques

Ethical and Social Perspectives on Global Business

Interaction in Emerging Markets Al-Shammari, Minwir, 2016-02-10 Societal demands, needs and perspectives of ethical and socially responsible behavior within business environments are a driving force for corporate self regulation. As such executives must consistently work to understand the current definition of ethical business behavior and strive to meet the expectations of the cultures and communities they serve. Ethical and Social Perspectives on Global Business: Interaction in Emerging Markets compiles current research relating to business ethics within developing markets around the world. This timely publication features research on topics essential to remaining competitive in the modern global marketplace such as corporate social responsibility, corporate governance, consumer behavior, understanding and ethical leadership and how all of these components attribute to the decision making process in business environments. Business executives and managers, graduate level students and academics will find this publication to be essential to their research, professional and educational needs.
