Open Court 4th Grade Escape:

The New Politics of the Textbook Heather Hickman, Brad J. Porfilio, 2012-10-13 In an age of unprecedented corporate and political control over life inside of educational institutions this book provides a needed intervention to investigate how the economic and political elite use traditional artifacts in K-12 schools to perpetuate their interests at the expense of minoritized social groups. The contributors provide a comprehensive examination of how textbooks, the most dominant cultural force in which corporations and political leaders impact the schooling curricula, shape students' thoughts and behavior, perpetuate power in dominant groups, and trivialize social groups who are oppressed on the structural axes of race, class, gender, sexuality, and disability. Several contributors also generate critical insight into how power shapes the production of textbooks and evaluate whether textbooks still perpetuate dominant Western narratives that normalize and privilege patriotism, militarism, consumerism, White supremacy, heterosexism, rugged individualism, technology, and a positivistic conception of the world. Finally, the book highlights several textbooks that challenge readers to rethink their stereotypical views of the Other to reflect upon the constitutive forces causing oppression in schools and in the wider society and to reflect upon how to challenge corporate and political dominance over knowledge production.

Integrative Problem-Solving in a Time of Decadence George Christakos, 2010-12-10

Presents a unique study of Integrative Problem Solving (IPS). The consideration of Decadence is essential in the scientific study of environmental and other problems and their rigorous solution because the broad context within which the problems emerge can affect their solution. Stochastic reasoning underlines the conceptual and methodological framework of IPS and its formulation has a mathematical life of its own that accounts for the multidisciplinarity of real world problems, the multisourced uncertainties characterizing their solution and the different thinking modes of the people involved. Only by interpolating between the full range of disciplines, including stochastic mathematics, physical science, neuropsychology, philosophy, and sociology, and the associated thinking modes can scientists arrive at a satisfactory account of problem solving and be able to distinguish between a technically complete problem solution and a solution that has social impact.
