Designing Machine Learning Systems Chip Huyen, 2022-05-17 Machine learning systems are both complex and unique. Complex because they consist of many different components and involve many different stakeholders. Unique because they are data dependent with data varying wildly from one use case to the next. In this book you will learn a holistic approach to designing ML systems that are reliable, scalable, maintainable, and adaptive to changing environments and business requirements. Author Chip Huyen, co-founder of Claypot AI, considers each design decision such as how to process and create training data, which features to use, how often to retrain models, and what to monitor in the context of how it can help your system as a whole achieve its objectives. The iterative framework in this book uses actual case studies backed by ample references. This book will help you tackle scenarios such as Engineering data and choosing the right metrics to solve a business problem. Automating the process for continually developing, evaluating, deploying, and updating models. Developing a monitoring system to quickly detect and address issues your models might encounter in production. Architecting an ML platform that serves across use cases. Developing responsible ML systems.

“Whatever It Is, I’m Against It” Brian Rosenberg, 2023-09-14 PROSE Award Finalist. An invigorating work that identifies obstructions to transformative change in higher education and offers paths to break through. In Whatever It Is, I’m Against It, president emeritus of Macalester College Brian Rosenberg draws on decades of higher education experience to expose the entrenched structures, practices, and cultures that inhibit meaningful postsecondary reform even as institutions face serious challenges to their financial and educational models. A lively insider’s account, the book pinpoints factors that hinder the ability of U.S. colleges and universities to be creative and entrepreneurial amid calls to improve affordability, access, and equity for students. Through pithy personal stories of divisive town hall meetings, multiyear college governance battles, and attempts at curricular reform, Rosenberg illustrates internal and external dynamics that impede institutional evolution. Pressures such as declining enrollment, escalating costs, and an oversupply of PhDs in academia have long signaled a grave need for reform within a profession that, as Rosenberg ruefully acknowledges, lacks organizational flexibility, depends greatly on reputation and ranking, and retains traditions from the academic calendar to grading systems that have remained essentially the same for decades. Rosenberg looks outside the U.S. system to find possible antidotes in innovative higher education models such as student-centered and experiential learning approaches. This thought-provoking work offers ample evidence for presidents, chancellors, deans, provosts, and faculty to consider as they plan their missions to achieve institutional transformation.
