Narrating the Dragoman's Self in the Veneto-Ottoman Balkans, c. 1550-1650 Stefan Hanß,2023-04-18 This microhistory of the Salvagos an Istanbul family of Venetian interpreters and spies travelling the sixteenth and seventeenth century Mediterranean is a remarkable feat of the historian s craft of storytelling With his father having been killed by secret order of Venice and his nephew to be publicly assassinated by Ottoman authorities Genesino Salvago and his brothers started writing self narratives When crossing the borders of words and worlds the Salvagos self narratives helped navigate at times beneficial other times unsettling entanglements of empire family and translation The discovery of an autobiographical text with rich information on Southeastern Europe edited here for the first time is the starting point of this extraordinary microbiography of a family's intense struggle for manoeuvring a changing world disrupted by competition betrayal and colonialism This volume recovers the Venetian life stories of Ottoman subjects and the crucial role of translation in negotiating a shared but fragile Mediterranean Stefan Han examines an interpreter's translational practices of the self and recovers the wider Mediterranean significance of the early modern Balkan contact zone Offering a novel conversation between translation studies Mediterranean studies and the history of life writing this volume argues that dragomans practices of translation border crossing and mobility were key to their experiences and performances of the self This book is an indispensable reading for the history of the early modern Mediterranean self narratives Venice the Ottoman Empire and Southeastern Europe as well as the history of translation Han presents a truly fascinating narrative a microhistory full of insights and rich perspectives
