Translation in Asia Ronit Ricci,Jan van der Putten,2014-04-08 The field of translation studies was largely formed on the basis of modern Western notions of monolingual nations with print literate societies and monochrome cultures A significant number of societies in Asia and their translation traditions have diverged markedly from this model. With their often multilingual populations and maintaining a highly oral orientation in the transmission of cultural knowledge many Asian societies have sustained alternative notions of what text original and translation may mean and have often emphasized performance and change rather than simple copying or transference. The contributions in Translation in Asia present exciting new windows into South and Southeast Asian translation traditions and their vast array of shared inter connected and overlapping ideas about and practices of translation transmitted between these two regions over centuries of contact and exchange. Drawing on translation traditions rarely acknowledged within translation studies debates including Tagalog, Tamil, Kannada, Malay, Hindi, Javanese, Telugu and Malayalam the essays in this volume engage with myriad interactions of translation and religion, colonialism and performance and provide insight into alternative conceptualizations of translation across periods and locales. The understanding gained from these diverse perspectives will contribute to complicate and expand the conversations unfolding in an emerging international translation studies.

Modernities in Southeast Asia Leonie Schmidt, 2017-05-25 What does it mean to be a modern Muslim today? In contemporary discourse Islam and modernity are often presented as each other's opposites in media and popular culture. Southeast Asia has a large Muslim population especially in Indonesia, Malaysia and Singapore but Islamic culture in these states is conspicuously absent from the wider global discourse on Islam. With a focus on popular culture in Indonesia a country that houses the world's largest Muslim population and that is also undergoing modernisation, Islamic Modernities in Southeast Asia will demonstrate how Islamic modernities are being negotiated and constructed through popular and visual culture from a trans regional perspective. Looking at a variety of Islamic themed popular and visual culture including rock music, cinema, art, visual decorations in shopping malls, self help books and fashion blogs, the book explores how Islamic modernities are imagined, negotiated, contested and shared in Southeast Asia.
