The First Sourcebook on Asian Research in Mathematics Education - 2 Volumes Bharath Sriraman, Jinfa Cai, Kyeonghwa Lee, Lianghuo Fan, Yoshinori Shimizu, Chap Sam Lim, K. Subramaniam, 2015-08-01 Mathematics and Science education have both grown in fertile directions in different geographic regions. Yet the mainstream discourse in international handbooks does not lend voice to developments in cognition curriculum teacher development assessment policy and implementation of mathematics and science in many countries. Paradoxically in spite of advances in information technology and the flat earth syndrome old distinctions and biases between different groups of researchers persist. In addition limited accessibility to conferences and journals also contribute to this problem. The International Sourcebooks in Mathematics and Science Education focus on under represented regions of the world and provides a platform for researchers to showcase their research and development in areas within mathematics and science education. The First Sourcebook on Asian Research in Mathematics Education China Korea Singapore Japan Malaysia and India provides the first synthesized treatment of mathematics education that has both developed and is now prominently emerging in the Asian and South Asian world. The book is organized in sections coordinated by leaders in mathematics education in these countries and editorial teams for each country affiliated with them. The purpose of unique sourcebook is to both consolidate and survey the established body of research in these countries with findings that have influenced ongoing research agendas and informed practices in Europe North America and other countries in addition to serving as a platform to showcase existing research that has shaped teacher education curricula and policy in these Asian countries. The book will serve as a standard reference for mathematics education researchers policy makers practitioners and students both in and outside Asia and complement the Nordic and NCTM perspectives.

Resources in Education, 1992 Serves as an index to Eric reports microform Mathematical Reasoning of Children and Adults Alina Galvão Spinillo, Síntria Labres Lautert, Rute Elizabeth de Souza Rosa Borba, 2021-05-24 This book adopts an interdisciplinary approach to investigate the development of mathematical reasoning in both children and adults and to show how understanding the learner's cognitive processes can help teachers develop better strategies to teach mathematics. This contributed volume departs from the interdisciplinary field of psychology of mathematics education and brings together contributions by researchers from different fields and disciplines such as cognitive psychology, neuroscience and mathematics education. The chapters are presented in the light of the three instances that permeate the entire book: the learner, the teacher and the teaching and learning process. Some of the chapters analyse the didactic challenges that teachers face in the classroom such as how to interpret students' reasoning, the use of digital technologies and their knowledge about mathematics. Other chapters examine students' opinions about mathematics and others analyse the ways in which students solve situations that involve basic and complex mathematical concepts. The approaches adopted in the description and interpretation of the data obtained in the studies documented in this book point out the limits the development and the possibilities of students thinking and present didactic and cognitive perspectives to the learning scenarios in different school settings Mathematical Reasoning of Children and Adults Teaching and Learning from an Interdisciplinary Perspective will be a valuable resource for both mathematics teachers and researchers studying the development of mathematical reasoning in different fields such as mathematics education educational psychology cognitive psychology and developmental psychology
