SimSell Student Manual Nancy J. Nentl, 2003 Both Nancy Nentl and Craig Miller are Minnesota authors Handbook of Research on Mobile Devices and Applications in Higher Education Settings Briz-Ponce, Laura, Juanes-Méndez, Juan Antonio, García-Peñalvo, Francisco José, 2016-07-13 Mobile phones have become an integral part of society as their convenience has helped democratize and revolutionize communication and the marketplace of ideas Because of their ubiquity in higher education undergraduate classrooms have begun to utilize smartphones and tablets as tools for learning The Handbook of Research on Mobile Devices and Applications in Higher Education Settings explores and fosters new perspectives on the use of mobile applications in a classroom context This timely publication will demonstrate the challenges that universities face when introducing new technologies to students and instructors as well as the rewards of doing so in a thoughtful manner This book is meant to present the latest research and become a source of inspiration for educators administrators researchers app developers and students of education and technology Handbook of Research on Connecting Research Methods for Information Science Research Ngulube, Patrick, 2019-12-13 In today's globalized world viable and reliable research is fundamental for the development of information Innovative methods of research have begun to shed light on notable issues and concerns that affect the advancement of knowledge within information science Building on previous literature and exploring these new research techniques are necessary to understand the future of information and knowledge. The Handbook of Research on Connecting Research Methods for Information Science Research is a collection of innovative research on the methods and application of study methods within library and information science. While highlighting topics including data management, philosophical foundations, and quantitative methodology, this book is ideally designed for librarians, information science professionals, policymakers, advanced level students, researchers, and academicians seeking current research on transformative methods of research within information science.

Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines: Concepts, Case Studies, and Practical Implementation Fovet, Frederic, 2021-01-22. Universal design for learning (UDL) has been hailed for over a decade as a revolutionary lens that allows campuses to shift their efforts to create inclusive environments. In recent years, UDL has gone beyond the field of disability and been explored with regards to international and indigenous students. There is now a sizable body of literature that details the benefits of implementing UDL in higher education, as well as a number of emerging studies examining the strategic challenges of developing UDL across institutions. There is, however, still a relative paucity of research discussing the transformation of instruction or assessment in concrete terms. Therefore, there is a necessity for research and information on UDL that has already been implemented in classrooms and the practical examples of what this process of transformation looks like. The Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines: Concepts, Case Studies, and Practical Implementation offers practical examples of UDL having successfully been embedded in courses within various disciplines and classroom formats, as well as across the undergraduate and graduate sectors. The chapters provide case studies and concrete examples of what the UDL reflection on practice might look like in specific faculties and departments. While highlighting UDL in areas such as educational technology, student engagement, assignment design, and inclusive education, this book is ideally intended for inservice and preservice teachers, administrators, teacher educators, higher education professors and leaders, practitioners, researchers, academicians, and students interested in the integration of UDL into strategic academic plans.
