Entrepreneurs and Capitalism since Luther Ivan Light, Léo-Paul Dana, 2020-08-20 In Entrepreneurs and Capitalism since Luther Rediscovering the Moral Economy Ivan Light and L o Paul Dana study the history of business capitalism and entrepreneurship to examine the values of social and cultural capital Six chapters evaluate case studies that illustrate contrasting relationships between social networks vocational culture and entrepreneurship Light and Dana argue that in capitalism s early stages cultural capital is scarcer than social capital and therefore more crucial for business owners Conversely when capitalism is well established social capital is scarcer than cultural capital and becomes more crucial Light and Dana then trace moral legitimations of capitalism from the Reformation to the Enlightenment the Gilded Age and finally to Joseph Schumpeter whose concept of creative destruction freed elite entrepreneurs from moral restraints that encumber small business owners After examining the availability of social and cultural capital in the contemporary United States Light and Dana show that business owners social capital enforces conventional morality in markets facilitating commerce and legitimating small businesses the old fashioned way As their networks become more isolated elite entrepreneurs must claim and ultimately deliver successful results to earn public toleration of immoral or predatory conduct

Pound Foolish Helaine Olen, 2012-12-27 If you ve ever bought a personal finance book watched a TV show about stock picking listened to a radio show about getting out of debt or attended a seminar to help you plan for your

retirement you've probably heard some version of these quotes: What's keeping you from being rich? In most cases it is simply a lack of belief. SUZE ORMAN: The Courage to Be Rich. Are you letting away your financial future? DAVID BACH: Smart Women Finish Rich. I know you're capable of picking winning stocks and holding on to them. JIM CRAMER: Mad Money. They're common refrains among personal finance gurus. There's just one problem: those and many similar statements are false. For the past few decades, Americans have spent billions of dollars on personal finance products. As salaries have stagnated and companies have cut back on benefits, we've taken matters into our own hands, embracing the can-do attitude that if we're smart enough, we can overcome even daunting financial obstacles. But that's not true. In this meticulously reported and shocking book, journalist and former financial columnist Helaine Olen goes behind the curtain of the personal finance industry to expose the myths, contradictions, and outright lies it has perpetuated. She shows how an industry that started as a response to the Great Depression morphed into a behemoth that thrives by selling us products and services that offer little if any help. Olen calls out some of the biggest names in the business, revealing how even the most respected gurus have engaged in dubious, even deceitful practices from accepting payments from banks and corporations in exchange for promoting certain products to blaming the victims of economic catastrophe for their own financial misfortune. Pound Foolish also disproves many myths about spending and saving, including: Small pleasures can bankrupt you. Gurus popularized the idea that cutting out lattes and other small expenditures could make us millionaires. But reducing our caffeine consumption will not offset our biggest expenses: housing, education, health care, and retirement. Disciplined investing will make you rich. Gurus also love to show how steady investing can turn modest savings into a huge nest egg at retirement. But these calculations assume a healthy market and a lifetime without any setbacks—two conditions that have no connection to the real world. Women need extra help managing money. Product pushers often target women whose alleged financial ignorance supposedly leaves them especially at risk. In reality, women and men are both terrible at handling finances. Financial literacy classes will prevent future economic crises. Experts like to claim mandatory sessions on personal finance in school will cure many of our money ills. Not only is there little evidence this is true, the entire movement is largely funded and promoted by the financial services sector. Weaving together original reporting, interviews with experts, and studies from disciplines ranging from behavioral economics to retirement planning, Pound Foolish is a compassionate and compelling book that will change the way we think and talk about our money.

Sales Dogs Blair Singer, 2013-02-28. The number one skill for any entrepreneur or business owner is the ability to sell. Why? Because sales = income. Yet many fail financially not because they do not have great ideas or even good work ethic, but typically because they don't know how to refuse to be afraid to or don't think it is important to know how to sell. Sales Dogs was written as the very first of the Rich Dad Poor Dad how-to Advisory series to teach in a very fun and impactful way how to overcome the fears, the myths, and the obstacles to selling your products, services, or yourself. It then teaches a simple, time-proven process of selling that will generate great income in most any business The reader will learn the five most important selling skills to master how to overcome any objection manage a territory and much more The book quickly de bunks the idea that you have to be an overly aggressive attack dog to be successful It uses the metaphor of man s best friend to say that a great sales person is like a loyal persistent and lovable canine It stipulates that there are five different breeds or personalities of SalesDogs that can each make a lot of money by playing to its strength You will learn how to identify maximize and train to that strength and also how to teach others on your team to do the same While the book is fun and engaging it also dives deep into the personal development issues that block a person s ability to generate income and how to overcome them The book is perfect for first time salespeople individuals who are uncomfortable with the notion of selling those who need to train others to sell and those who want to simply get better quicker
