Autobiographical Memory, Narrative Identity, and Mental Health Shamsul Haque, Jorge Javier Ricarte, Laura Jobson, Fabrice Berna, 2022-07-04 Migration and Identity Andor Skotnes, 2017-07-12 The theme of Migration and Identity is of special concern at a time both of massive worldwide migration and of apparently intensifying national ethnic and racial conflicts Problems of migration and the resulting reconfigurations of social identity are fundamental issues for the twenty first century This volume spans the whole complex global web of migratory patterns with contributions linking Africa Asia Australia Europe North and South America without losing the particularities of local and personal experience This paperback edition in the Memory and Narrative series explores these issues and the sustaining or abandoning of memory and identity as people move between fundamentally different cultures in a number of recent social settings from a number of methodological perspectives These focused case studies offer glimpses into the interior migration experiences into the processes of constructing and reconstructing identity without forgetting that both theoretically and empirically the problem of identity is complex and multifaceted All of the essays rely heavily on oral history and personal testimony highlighting the experience of individuals and small groups without ignoring the tension that exists between the local and the global Memories of oppression or totalitarianism are one of the driving forces behind some of these migrations and the transmission of memories and myths between family generations is one of the ways in which migrations are interpreted In looking both backward and forward Migration and Identity offers an acute view of migratory patterns and their impact on the newcomers and the local cultures It will be of interest to cultural and oral historians and researchers of concerned with migration and integration Interstices of Space and Memory Sreedevi Santhosh, Samjaila TH, Sneha Suresh, Preethi S., 2025-03-07 The conference intersectionally locates memory and space that reconstruct city chronotopes to explore how identities are reconfigured in metropolitan Indian cities In taking recourse in locating turning points that could be historical political or cultural in the life of Metropolitan Indian Cities the perspective that is brought together with personal and collective stories that are recorded in Art Literature Curated Projects Museums is that these moments reshape human values ethos in Cities The assumption made is that at specific moments in time turning points with the pandemic for instance the spirit of the city changes It highlights how human beings in cities account for such changes the IIHS runs a postcard project on human lives during the plague and corona being an example It uses focal moments in the City as the lens to discuss Art Literature and City Design Collective Memory Narratives in Contemporary Culture Antonella Pocecco, Estrella Gualda, Emiliana Mangone, 2023-11-27 Starting from the central importance of memory in contemporary societies this book encourages a transdisciplinary reflection on how the presentification of the past is never a simple reenactment but corresponds to the interaction between memory and cultural sensitiveness present beliefs and needs expectations and forecasts for the future It studies cultural re construction through collective stories including academic debates media narratives collective mobilizations state narratives of history architectural reconstructions and artistic expressions It looks at how technological innovations have profoundly changed the practices of conservation and dissemination of collective memory with particular reference to cultural digitization Finally it shows that the relevance and selection of events the organization of connections and cross references between past present and future as well as the importance of diversified collective imaginaries are the keys to narrative constructions of memory that prove to be sensitive and decisive for its continuity and its intergenerational transmission This interdisciplinary collection is for students and scholars of the social sciences cultural studies and the humanities interested in memory studies

The Discursive Construction of National Identities Through Narratives of Immigration in German and American Social Studies Textbooks Jan M. Kotowski,2011 Algeria and France, 1800-2000 Patricia M. E. Lorcin,2006-10-19 The relationship between Algeria and France that formed during the 132 years of colonial rule did not end in 1962 when Algeria gained its independence This long period of occupation left an indelible mark on the social fabric of both societies one that continues to influence their cultures identities and politics Wide ranging in scope yet complementary in focus the essays deftly convey the extent to which the French colonial experience in Algeria resonates on both sides of the Mediterranean Young and established scholars shed light on the linguistic cultural and social mechanisms of violence remembrance forgetting fantasy nostalgia prejudice mythmaking and fractured identity Addressing the nature of Franco Algerian relations through such topics as migration displacement settler colonialism racism and sexuality these essays provide an important contribution to postcolonial studies cultural studies and North African history With renewed public debate surrounding the two countries shared past and their interwoven communities today this volume will be indispensable for anyone with an interest in the relations between Algeria and France and the literature on memory and nostalgia

Memory, Narrative, and Identity Amritjit Singh,Joseph T. Skerrett,Robert E. Hogan,1994 Some of the essays consider a single writer while others adopt a comparative approach Some are multi disciplinary drawing on insights from anthropology or semiotics while others provide close textual analysis

Migration and Identity Andor Skotnes,SKOTNES,2017-09-14 The theme of Migration and Identityis of special concern at a time both of massive worldwide migration and of apparently intensifying national ethnic and racial conflicts Problems of migration and the resulting reconfigurations of social identity are fundamental issues for the twenty first century This volume spans the whole complex global web of migratory patterns with contributions linking Africa Asia Australia Europe North and South America without losing the particularities of local and personal experience This paperback edition in the Memory and Narrative series explores these issues and the sustaining or abandoning of memory and identity as people move between fundamentally different cultures in a number of recent social settings from a number of methodological perspectives These focused case studies offer glimpses into the interior migration experiences into the processes of constructing and reconstructing identity without forgetting that both theoretically and empirically the problem of identity is complex and multifaceted All of the essays rely heavily on oral history and personal testimony highlighting the experience of individuals and small groups without ignoring the tension that exists between the local and the global. Memories of oppression or totalitarianism are one of the driving forces behind some of these migrations and the transmission of memories and myths between family generations is one of the ways in which migrations are interpreted. In looking both backward and forward, Migration and Identity offers an acute view of migratory patterns and their impact on the newcomers and the local cultures. It will be of interest to cultural and oral historians and researchers of concerned with migration and integration.

Diaspora and Memory, 2016-08-01

Experiences of migration and dwelling in displacement impinge upon the lives of an ever increasing number of people worldwide with business class comfort but more often with unrelenting violence. Since the early 1990s the political and cultural realities of global migration have led to a growing interest in the different forms of diasporic existence and identities. The articles in this book do not focus on the external boundaries of diaspora: what is diasporic and what is not, but on one of its most important internal boundaries which is indicated by the second term in the title of this book: memory. It is not by chance that the right to remember, the responsibility to recall, are central issues of the debates in diasporic communities and their relation to their cultural and political surroundings. The relation of diaspora and memory contains important critical and maybe even subversive potentials. Memory can transcend the territorial logic of dispersal and return and emerge as a competing source of diasporic identity. The articles in this volume explore how shaped by the responsibilities of testimony as well as by the normalizing forces of amnesia and forgetting and political interests, memory is a performative, figurative process rather than a secure space of identity.

Age, Narrative and Migration Katy Gardner, 2002-06. Whilst the vast majority of recent research on identity and ethnicity amongst South Asians in Britain has focused upon younger people, this book deals with Bengali elders, the first generation of migrants from Sylhet in Bangladesh. The book describes how many of these elders face the processes of ageing, sickness and finally death in a country where they did not expect to stay and where they do not necessarily feel they belong. The ways in which they talk about and deal with this and in particular their ambivalence towards Britain and Bangladesh lies at the heart of the book. Centrally the book is based around the men and women's life stories. In her analysis of these, Gardner shows how narratives play an important role in the formation of both collective and individual identity and are key domains for the articulation of gender and age. Underlying the stories that people tell and sometimes hidden within their gaps and silences are often other issues and concerns. Using particular idioms and narrative devices, the elders talk about the contradictions and disjunctions of transmigration, their relationship with and sometimes resistance to the British State and what they often present as the breakdown of traditional ways. In addition to this, the book shows that histories, stories and identity are not just narrated.

through words but also through the body an area rarely theorized in studies of migration

Language, Identity and Symbolic Culture David Evans, 2019-11-28 Language is integral to the construction of personal socio cultural and socio political identities Language Identity and Symbolic Culture closely investigates the relationship between language and identities offering a comprehensive yet progressive view of how linguistics relates to development and education both in theoretical and real world applications Progressing from a theoretical core examining the connection between language and individual identity this book moves on to look at the wider socio political discourse involving the marginalization and resistance of communities in the world Beginning with the philosophical paradigms of language Evans questions whether language shapes personal identities in its daily use or whether language is simply a tool for describing rather than creating the world Extrapolating on this the contributors utilise case studies from across the globe to see how these linguistic perspectives are played out in the real world considering the role of language in issues surrounding power colonization marginalization and education Language Identity and Symbolic Culture offers a view of language identity conflicts around the world and an understanding of the opportunities of political and cultural emancipation created through language and open discourse
