Nest Smart Home Electronics: An Easy Guide to the Best Features Bill

Stoneham, 2016-07-28 Nest electronics was a producer of automated home electronics that have the ability to learn and are operated by sensor and Wi-Fi connection. The first product ever made by the company was a Nest Learning Thermostat that they developed in 2011. The company was founded in 2010 by Tony Fadell and Matt Rogers, who were both former engineers at Apple. The company has grown tremendously since its start, moving from 130 employees to 1,100 and is highly praised for its smart home devices.

Evaluation of the Nest Learning Thermostat in a Multifamily Apartment Setting

Christopher J. McHugh, 2017 Since 2011, the Nest Learning thermostat, utilizing proprietary occupancy scheduling algorithms and sensors, has transformed the residential and small commercial programmable thermostat market into a smart thermostat market. Due to usability and design challenges, a majority of people who have programmable thermostats do not properly operate them, often times leading to lower potential energy savings and even higher energy consumption than conventional non-programmable thermostats. Compared to previous thermostats, however, the Nest thermostat is designed to learn its occupants' schedules and develop a heating and cooling schedule to best meet its occupants' thermal comfort needs, bridging the usability and functionality gap that exists with previous programmable thermostats. While most thermostat research is focused on single family homes, this study was conducted using a multifamily apartment complex where occupants were not responsible for their bills. This study emphasizes the importance of using smart thermostats correctly to realize expected energy savings and how even a smart thermostat can fail to save energy if its features are not used.

A Study of the Potential Impact of Smart Thermostats on Residential Energy Efficiency and Demand Response in North America Diego Ariza Muñoz, 2016 This thesis evaluates the potential impact of smart thermostats on the residential energy efficiency and demand response in North America. Smart thermostats are rapidly gaining popularity, and our estimations indicate that today there are more than nine million units already installed in North America. Electric utilities have recently started pilot programs known as Bring Your Own Thermostat (BYOT) through which they subsidize part of the smart thermostat that their customers install in their homes in exchange for taking command of the settings certain hours per day during for a few summer days. Currently there are only about 50,000 homeowners enrolled in BYOT programs in the USA but the expectation that smart thermostats can impact energy efficiency and change the residential demand response (DR) landscape is high. Using System Dynamics, this thesis has examined this potential and the results show that the smart thermostats in the business as usual case can save about 60 TWh year of electricity or the continuous production of about fifteen 500MW coal plants or Rosenfelds by 2025. If programs such as BYOT where part of the thermostat is subsidized were going to be popularized, this number can almost double. And additionally, this technology is creating an important potential in the residential demand response space which is also studied in this thesis.
