Barton,1973     Handbook of the Christian Religion for the Use of Advanced Students and the Educated Laity Wilhelm Wilmers,1891     The African Transformation of Western Medicine and the Dynamics of Global Cultural Exchange David Baronov,2010-05-14 Beginning with the colonial era Western biomedicine has radically transformed African medical beliefs and practices Conversely in using Western biomedicine Africans have also transformed it The African Transformation of Western Medicine and the Dynamics of Global Cultural Exchange contends that contemporary African medical systems no less biomedical than Western medicine in fact greatly enrich and expand the notion of biomedicine reframing it as a global cultural form deployed across global networks of cultural exchange The book analyzes biomedicine as a complex and dynamic sociocultural form the conceptual premises of which make it necessarily subject to ongoing change and development as it travels the globe David Baronov captures the complexities of this cultural exchange by using world systems analysis in a way that places global cultural processes on equal footing with political and economic processes In doing so he both allows the story of Africa's transformation of Western biomedicine to be told and offers new insights into the capitalist world system Handbook of the Christian Religion for the Use of Advanced Students and the Educational Laity Wilhelm Wilmers, 1891 Abiding in Physical Health Nate Sweeney, 2021-03-15 Are you sick and tired of being sick and tired Do you struggle with the roller coaster of diets and exercise Have you found yourself discouraged with where you are in your physical health If you can relate to any of these questions then this book can offer you hope in Christ on your journey In this book Nate takes a practical and theological approach to the topic of physical health through the lens of abiding in Christ His heart for this book is To help you see what it means to have an intimate abiding relationship with Jesus Christ That through this relationship you will gain understanding of what the Bible says on this topic To emphasize that much of the unhealthy living today is preventable To help you have faith in God so that you can find physical healing To help you identify unhealthy triggers that keep you from physical health To provide a framework for accountability to assist you in achieving your goals for your physical body At the end of each chapter is an application focused workbook section that will help you take what you are learning and incorporate it into your daily discipleship journey Whether you have a chronic illness have severe medical issues are struggling in your physical health or simply want to explore this topic through a biblical lens this book is for you Abiding in Physical Health will encourage you on your journey and help you find healing and abundant life Abidingnetwork.com

N. Rajesh, 2009-01-14 Locality History Memory The Making of the Citizen in South Asia was born out of the need to interrogate the tropes through which place history and memory underpin notions of citizenship in present Southasia Time as both time present and time past is framed here in two settings as privileging both place material or ideological site and space The latter refers to religion oppression marginalization and or dalitisation Time transcends both site location and actual physical boundaries Locality or location is therefore envisioned in terms of both actual place as well as a gateway to a larger space in terms of a situation where historical memory negotiates the increasingly complex present Agency and contingency therefore assume a critical importance here Citizenship far from being a discrete entity is found to be multidimensional it refers to formal status and the legal status of nationality and citizenship authenticated in the passport but it also refers to rights and privileges identity and solidarity religious beliefs and a sense of belonging Moving away from the role of the state which has been at the centre of all inquiries on citizenship we ask here the following questions in Locality History Memory How does our history enforce or dilute the notion of the citizen How far does memory strengthen or weaken it What role does features not normally associated with citizenship such as access to natural resources or ritual faith and religion play in reinforcing such a status History in the end is written by the historian and it was easy to map the changing methodologies used by the historians to essay the past but this is becoming increasingly difficult now Another twist is the shift to hypertext at a popular level echoing what the late E H Carr had once called bringing more and more people into history These so called alternative histories or people s histories are becoming more and more popular because of the point at which we are located in time Moreover devices afforded by the new media enable these alternative histories to have an immediacy that the conventional historical format lacked The collapse of state control over the new media has led to the resurgence of many archaic voices unimaginable just a decade ago

Paffenroth,2005-01-01 The study of Augustine s political teachings has suffered from a history of misreadings both ancient and modern It is only in recent years that the traditional lines of Augustinian pessimism have been opened to question Scholars have begun to explore the broader lines of Augustine s political thought in his letters and sermons and thus have been able to place his classic text The City of God in its proper context The essays in this volume take stock of these recent developments and revisit old assumptions about the significance of Augustine of Hippo for political thought They do so from many different perspectives examining the anthropological and theological underpinnings of Augustine s thought his critique of politics his development of his own political thought and some of the later manifestations or uses of his thought in the Middle Ages the Renaissance and today This new vision is at once more bracing more hopeful and more diverse than earlier readings could have allowed

A Healthy Balance Kenneth Mullen,1993 Issues of control and release are central elements in the sociological literature on lay accounts of health This book deepens our understanding of these themes by presenting a qualitative analysis of the health beliefs of a group of men in mid life living in the city of Glasgow Using the methods of analytical induction and grounded theory part one outlines the central features of lay health beliefs under the headings of general health tobacco and alcohol use Control and release are analysed in terms of respondents thinking about the management of stress and the nature of relaxation Part two takes the analysis of the dichotomy further by considering the overarching themes of work marital status and moral and religious issues The book demonstrates the difficulty men had in balancing both sides of the dichotomy and thus maximising their chances of good health
