Natural History Of Santa Catalina Island:

Natural History of the Islands of California Allan A. Schoenherr, C. Robert Feldmeth, Michael J. Emerson, 2003-07-10
Natural History of the Islands of California provides a solid introduction to the marine and terrestrial biotas of the islands and serves not only as an important general source of information but also as a field guide for visitors. Details on getting to the islands are presented in the first chapter. Natural History of Santa Catalina Island Gerald J. Bakus, 2011-07
GERALD J. BAKUS Ph.D. is Professor of Biology at the University of Southern California Los Angeles. He has more than five decades of experience in the fields of biology and ecology. He obtained training in terrestrial biology as an undergraduate student, freshwater biology as a master's degree student, and marine biology for his Ph.D. at the University of Washington Seattle. In addition to his many published research and review articles, Dr. Bakus is the author of Coral Reef Ecosystems 1994, Quantitative Analysis of Marine Biological Communities 2007, Natural History of Oregon 2009, and Natural History of California 2011. The book titled Natural History of Santa Catalina Island was developed from a multimedia CD developed at the University of Southern California. It was based on a course titled Ecology and Natural History of California offered at Santa Catalina Island in January. Dr. Bakus teaches general ecology, marine biology, natural history of California, and quantitative biology. The principal reason for producing this book is to make people aware of this remarkable island and receive enjoyment from observing its great natural beauty.

Terrestrial Vegetation of California, 3rd Edition Michael Barbour, Todd Keeler-Wolf, Allan A. Schoenherr, 2007-07-17
This completely new edition of Terrestrial Vegetation of California clearly documents the extraordinary complexity and richness of the plant communities and of the state and the forces that shape them. This volume is a storehouse of information of value to anyone concerned with meeting the challenge of understanding, managing, or conserving these unique plant communities under the growing threats of climate change, biological invasions, and development. Harold Mooney, Professor of Environmental Biology, Stanford University. The plants of California are under threat like never before. Traditional pressures of development and invasive species have been joined by a newly recognized threat: human-caused climate change. It is essential that we thoroughly understand current plant community dynamics in order to have a hope of conserving them. This book represents an important, well-timed advance in knowledge of the vegetation of this diverse state and is an essential resource for professionals, students, and the general public alike. Brent Mishler, Director of the University and Jepson Herbaria and Professor of Integrative Biology, University of California Berkeley. Natural History of Santa Catalina Island Theodore Dru Alison Cockerell, 1939
