Naturalizing Intention in Action Franck Grammont, Dorothée Legrand, Pierre Livet, 2010 An interdisciplinary integration of theoretical and empirical approaches to the question of intentional action The Primacy of Movement Maxine Sheets-Johnstone, 2011-07-06 This expanded second edition carries forward the initial insights into the biological and existential significances of animation by taking contemporary research findings in cognitive science and philosophy and in neuroscience into critical and constructive account It first takes affectivity as its focal point elucidating it within both an enactive and qualitative affective kinetic dynamic It follows through with a thoroughgoing interdisciplinary inquiry into movement from three perspectives mind brain and the conceptually reciprocal realities of receptivity and responsivity as set forth in phenomenology and evolutionary biology respectively It ends with a substantive afterword on kinesthesia pointing up the incontrovertible significance of the faculty to cognition and affectivity Series A The Cognitive Foundations of Group Attitudes and Social Interaction Andreas Herzig, Emiliano Lorini, 2015-10-12 This book offers a widely interdisciplinary approach to investigating important questions surrounding the cognitive foundations of group attitudes and social interaction The volume tackles issues such as the relationship between individual and group attitudes the cognitive bases of group identity and group identification and the link between emotions and individual attitudes This volume delves into the links between individual attitudes such as beliefs goals and intentions and how they are reflected in shared attitudes where common belief collective acceptance joint intentions and group preferences come into play It pursues answers to the connections between trust and beliefs goals and intentions and attempts to investigate questions such as does trust have an affective component and how it may relate to hope and fear The volume also scrutinizes game theory and questions whether it can satisfactorily explain and model social interaction and if there may be any concepts which are not addressed by the current theory Contributors are derived from disciplines including philosophy economics psychology logic and computer science Interdisciplinary in scope and comprehensive detail this volume integrates a variety of approaches philosophical psychological and artificial intelligence to strategic normative and emotional aspects of social interaction Proceedings and Addresses of the American Philosophical Association American Philosophical Association, 2010 List of members in v 1 The Mind as a Scientific Object Christina E.
