Museum Texts Louise Ravelli, 2007-01-24 Ideal for students and professionals alike this book uses a wide range of examples and answers key questions in the study of how museums communicate and provides an excellent set of frameworks to investigate the complexities of communication in museums

Museum Texts Louise Ravelli, 2007-01-24 Answering key questions in the study of how museums communicate Louise Ravelli provides a set of frameworks to investigate the complexities of communication in museums What is an appropriate level of complexity for a written label Why do some choice in language make a more direct relation to visitors Is there a correct way of presenting a particular view of content How do design practices contribute to the overall meanings being made The frameworks enhance the way we critically analyze and understand museums text both in the sense of conventional written texts in museums and in an expanded sense of the museum as a whole operating as a communicative text Using a wide range of examples Ravelli argues that communication contributes fundamentally to what a museum is who it relates to and what it stands for Not only museum studies and communications studies students but also professionals in the field will find Museum Texts an indispensable guide on communication frameworks

Recoding the Museum Ross Parry, 2007-11-19 Through an historical approach Ross Parry excavates cultural assumptions and values that provide the basis of museum information management and display and that are still used to this day

Rethinking Evolution in the Museum Monique Scott, 2007-11-19 Rethinking Evolution in the Museum explores the ways diverse natural history museum audiences imagine their evolutionary heritage In particular the book considers how the meanings constructed by audiences of museum exhibitions are a product of dynamic interplay between museum iconography and powerful images museum visitors bring with them to the museum In doing so the book illustrates how the preconceived images held by museum audiences about anthropology Africa and the museum itself strongly impact the human origins exhibition experience Although museological theory has come increasingly to recognize that museum audiences make meaning in exhibitions or make their own complex interpretations of museum exhibitions few scholars have explicitly asked how Rethinking Evolution in the Museum however provides a rare window into visitor perceptions at four world class museums the Natural History Museum and Horniman Museum in London the National Museums of Kenya in Nairobi and the American Museum of Natural History in New York Through rigorous and novel mixed methods quantitative and qualitative covering nearly 500 museum visitors this innovative study shows that audiences of human origins exhibitions interpret evolution exhibitions through a profoundly complex convergence of personal political intellectual emotional and cultural interpretive strategies This book also reveals that natural history museum visitors often respond to museum exhibitions similarly because they use common cultural tools picked up from globalized popular media circulating outside of the museum One tool of particular interest is the notion that human evolution has proceeded linearly from a bestial African prehistory to a civilized European present Despite critical growths in anthropological science and museum displays the outdated Victorian progress motif lingers persistently in popular media and the popular imagination Rethinking Evolution in the Museum sheds light on our relationship with natural history museums and will be crucial to those people interested in understanding the connection between the visitor the museum and media culture outside of the museum hitherto neglected area of research within the fields of academic and professional discourse the language of conferencing The volume represents a range of perspectives from the conference as a whole event to the conference as a system of potential genres within a given discourse community Some discourse features of conference language are examined in detail such as strategies for politeness and other interpersonal management during presentations and discussions The pedagogical implications of conference research are also addressed and indeed there is a growing need for such a focus Novice conference participants need explicit linguistic description of and training in the relevant genres to enable them to become fully fledged members of their professional discourse communities Additionally the work in this volume makes a valuable
