Muslims Of Europe The Other Europeans:

Muslims of Europe H. A. Hellyer, 2009-09-30 The interchange between Muslims and Europe has a long and complicated history dating back to before the idea of Europe was born and the earliest years of Islam There has been a Muslim presence on the European continent before but never has it been so significant particularly in Western Europe With more Muslims in Europe than in many countries of the Muslim world they have found themselves in the position of challenging what it means to be a European in a secular society of the 21st century At the same time the European context has caused many Muslims to re think what is essential to them in religious terms in their new reality In this work H A Hellyer analyses the prospects for a European future where pluralism is accepted within unified societies and the presence of a Muslim community that is of Europe not simply in it

Islam and Muslims in Europe Yehuda Cohen, 2018 The main subject of this book concerns the Muslim immigrants in Europe It includes the entire history of Islam vis a vis Europe since the 7th century prescribing useful dos and donts for current European policymakers Europeans have developed negative predispositions toward Muslims sometimes even distinctly perceiving them as foes The British greatly value the recollection of their glorious erstwhile empire thus when it broke up they enabled former subjects of the Crown to settle in the UK as if to build a miniature duplicate of their empire within Britains borders Hence the British did not perceive former colonies Muslim immigrants as foes unlike continental Europeans but as British subjects Generally Europeans intend to fill the individual Muslim immigrants needs as a citizen according to the liberal approach The expectation however is that Muslims as a group would become culturally integrated within the absorbing society That approach bewilders the European Muslims Many Muslim immigrants experience discrimination in Europe The continental European approach toward Muslims stemming from prejudice and fear made some immigrants aggressive The main divergence between European society and Muslim immigrants is due foremost to certain collective memories of the native Europeans That insight is elucidated by comparing European and American societies The American found in a country built by immigrants tends to adapt to a variety of new immigrants Muslims included Conversely European society is fundamentally incapable of truly incorporating immigrant culture and practices which it perceives as a threat especially concerning Islam It is therefore the Europeans who hold the key to alter the destructive dynamics not the Muslims Muslims and Arabs within their countries suffer the frustration of remembering their Golden Age when the Europeans were deeply mired in the Middle Ages Nowadays the Arabs and Muslims have not been able to lift themselves back to their former state That frustration may be compared to the German frustration in the 1920s being split up into distinct German states the consequence of which was the mass destruction of the European Jewish population The splitting of the Germans while suffering from lack of one uniting national myth had brought on the adoption of a German race theory which Adolf Hitler offered to the Germans and had led to the Holocaust Frustration may turn people rather aggressive and Iran or some Arabs like the members of ISIS aided by Muslims in Europe might end up using weapons of mass destruction against Europe The case of ISIS is therefore elaborated upon in detail in this book The successful integration of the Muslims in Europe may help somewhat indeed this book aims to promote such an accomplishment The French approach is uniquely rather rigid towards Muslim immigrants as a group and individually Hence there is no mental confusion among Muslims there and a significant portion of the Muslims in France see themselves as French better integrated than other Muslims in Europe The best policy the Continental Europeans may adopt is the French approach

The Oxford Handbook of European Islam Jocelyne Cesari, 2014-10-30 For centuries Muslim countries and Europe have engaged one another through theological dialogues diplomatic missions political rivalries and power struggles In the last thirty years due in large part to globalization and migration from Islamic countries to the West what was previously an engagement across national and cultural boundaries has increasingly become an internalized encounter within Europe itself Questions of the Hijab in schools freedom of expression in the wake of the Danish Cartoon crisis and the role of Shari'a have come to the forefront of contemporary European discourse The Oxford Handbook of European Islam is the first collection to present a comprehensive approach to the multiple and changing ways Islam has been studied across European countries Parts one to three address the state of knowledge of Islam and Muslims within a selection of European countries while presenting a critical view of the most up to date data specific to each country These chapters analyse the immigration cycles and policies related to the presence of Muslims tackling issues such as discrimination post colonial identity adaptation and assimilation The thematic chapters in parts four and five examine secularism radicalization Shari'a Hijab and Islamophobia with the goal of synthesizing different national discussion into a more comparative theoretical framework The Handbook attempts to balance cutting edge assessment with the knowledge that the content itself will eventually be superseded by events Featuring eighteen newly commissioned essays by noted scholars in the field this volume will provide an excellent resource for students and scholars interested in European Studies immigration Islamic studies and the sociology of religion

Islam, Europe's Second Religion Shireen Hunter, 2002-07-30 Islam is slowly becoming part of Europe's social cultural and to some degree political landscape This work considers the best way of accommodating Islam in Europe and establishing cooperative relations between Muslims and the followers of other religious or secular value systems

Muslims and the Making of Modern Europe Emily Greble, 2021 Muslims have lived in Europe for hundreds of years Only in 1878 however did many of them become formal citizens of European states Muslims and the Making of Europe shows how this massive shift in citizenship rights transformed both Muslims daily lives and European laws and societies Starting with the Treaty of Berlin and ending with the eradication of the Shari'a legal system in Communist Yugoslavia this book centers Muslim voices and perspectives in an analysis of the twists and turns of nineteenth and twentieth century European history from early nation building projects to the shattering of the European imperial order after World War I through the interwar political experiments of liberal democracy and authoritarianism and into the Second World War when Muslims like other Europeans were caught between occupation and civil conflict and the ideological programs of fascism and communism Its focus moves from Ottoman Europe in the late nineteenth century to Yugoslavia a multi confessional multi lingual state founded after World War I Throughout these decades Muslims negotiated with state authorities over the boundaries of Islamic law the nature of religious freedom and the meaning of minority rights As they did so Muslims helped to shape emergent political social and legal projects in Europe

European Muslims, Civility and Public Life Paul Weller,Ihsan Yilmaz,2012-02-16 This collection deals with challenges and opportunities faced by Muslims and the wider society in Europe following the Madrid train bombings of 2004 and the London Transport attacks of 2005 The contributors explore the challenges to the concept and practice of civility in public life within a European context and demonstrate the contributions that can be made in this regard from the thought and practice of the global movement inspired by the Turkish Muslim scholar Fethullah G len The importance and distinctiveness of the teaching of Fethullah G len and the practice of the movement is that it is rooted in a confident Turkish Islamic heritage while being fully engaged with modernity It offers the possibility of a contextualised renewal of Islam for Muslims in Europe while being fully rooted in the teachings of the Qu ran and the Sunnah of the Prophet This volume is an important contribution to the study of the movement which advocates the freedom of religion while making an Islamic contribution to the wider society based on a commitment to service of others The movement and initiatives inspired by the Turkish Muslim scholar Fethullah G len began in Turkey but can now be found throughout the world including in both Europe and in the Muslim world Bloomsbury have a companion volume on The Muslim World and Politics in Transition Creative Contributions of the G len Movement edited by Greg Barton Paul Weller and Ihsan Yilmaz

Cole Durham,Rik Torfs,2016-05-06 Islam Europe and Emerging Legal Issues brings together vital analysis of the challenges that Europe poses for an expanding Islam and that Islam poses for Europe within their ever evolving religious legal and social environments This book gathers some of the best thinking on Islam and the law affecting current and contested issues that can no longer be ignored particularly as they have found their way before the European Court of Human Rights Contributors include leading authorities who are working at the heart of this generation s law and religion questions in Europe and across the world This book outlines implications for all those who look to Europe from both within and without for models of human rights implementation and multi cultural accommodation

Muslim Europe or Euro-Islam Manuel Castells,Nezar AlSayyad,2002-04-03 Five centuries after the expulsion of Muslims and Jews from Spain Europe is once again becoming a land of Islam At the beginning of a new millennium and in an era marked as one of globalization Europe continues to wrestle with the issue of national identity especially in the context of its Muslim citizens Muslim Europe or Euro Islam brings together distinguished scholars from Europe the United States and the Middle East in a dynamic discussion about the Muslim populations living in Europe and about Europe s role in framing Islam today The book raises several crucial questions Does Islam offer a special case for citizenship Is assimilation or multiculturalism the model to be followed in the case of Muslims in Europe How powerful a force is Islam in determining identity And why is Islam after centuries of being a presence in Europe not considered a European religion Working at the knotty intersection of cultural identity the politics of nations and nationalisms and religious persuasions this is an invaluable anthology of scholarship that reveals the multifaceted natures of both Europe and Islam

The Idea of European Islam Mohammed Hashas, 2018-07-24

Suspensions about the integration of Islam into European cultures have been steadily on the rise and dramatically so since 9 11 One reason lies in the visibility of anti Western Islamic discourses of salafi origin which have monopolized the debate on the true Islam not only among Muslims but also in the eyes of the general population across Europe these discourses combined with Islamophobic discourses reinforce the so called incompatibility between the West and Islam This book breaks away from this clash between Islam and the West by arguing that European Islam is possible It analyzes the contribution that European Islam has made to the formation of an innovative Islamic theology that is deeply ethicist and modern and it clarifies how this constructed European Islamic theology is able to contribute to the various debates that are related to secular liberal democracies of Western Europe Part I introduces four major projects that defend the idea of European Islam from different disciplines and perspectives politics political theology jurisprudence and philosophy Part II uses the frameworks from three major philosophers and scholars to approach the idea of European Islam in the context of secular liberal societies British scholar George Hourani Moroccan philosopher Taha Abderrahmane and the American philosopher John Rawls The book shows that the ongoing efforts of European Muslim thinkers to revisit the concept of citizenship and political community can be seen as a new kind of political theology in opposition to radical forms of Islamic thinking in some Muslim majority countries Opening a new path for examining Islamic thought in and of Europe this book will appeal to students and scholars of Islamic Studies Islam in the West and Political Theology

Muslims at the Margins of Europe Tuomas Martikainen, José Mapril, Adil Hussain Khan, 2019-07-29 This volume focuses on Muslims in Finland Greece Ireland and Portugal representing the four corners of the European Union today It highlights how Muslim experiences can be understood in relation to a country s particular historical routes political economies colonial and post colonial legacies as well as other factors such as church state relations the role of secularism s and urbanisation This volume also reveals the incongruous nature of the fact that national particularities shaping European Muslim experiences cannot be understood independently of European and indeed global dynamics This makes it even more important to consider every national context when analysing patterns in European Islam especially those that have yet to be fully elaborated The chapters in this volume demonstrate the contradictory dynamics of European Muslim contexts that are simultaneously distinct yet similar to the now familiar ones of Western Europe's most populous countries

Muslims in the Enlarged Europe Brigitte Marechal, Stefano Allievi, Felice Dassetto, Jørgen Nielsen, 2003-09-01 This volume describes the main characteristics of contemporary European Islam Following an outline of the historical background and some statistics related to the presence of Islam in Europe the process of growth the development of Islam is analysed through religious instruction in educational systems organisational structures and the forms of political participation by Muslims In addition to a description of the relationship between European states and Islam in judicial terms the different types of the inclusion integration of Islam in European society is studied by looking at the media the relations between religions economic and international dimensions and the manner in which views have changed following the events of September 11 Based on extensive bibliographical research field studies and specific contributions of scholars this book provides a rare and useful overall review for a wide public Muslims in the Enlarged Europe has been selected by Choice as Outstanding Academic Title 2005 Haunted presents Amikam

Nachmani, 2017-05-31 Haunted presents Europeans Muslim immigrants and the onus of European Jewish histories is an in depth analysis of the interrelations between Muslim minority immigrants and local European communities with an accent on Jewish communities and Judaism The triangular investigation in this work is largely based on media reporting and comment between the years 2005 15 From this basis a solid informative background to the explosive mass Muslim immigration to Europe and the terror conflict racism religious social and political clashes of today is framed No other scholarly work yet one written in an empirical attainable style succeeds in presenting a more comprehensive coherent and cohesive overview of the elements behind the headline making news emerging from the tumultuous state which is Europe today

Muslims in 21st Century Europe Anna Triandafyllidou, 2010-04-05 This book explores the interaction between native majorities and Muslim minorities in different European countries It highlights the internal diversity of both minority and majority populations and critically analyses the political and institutional responses to the presence of Muslims The book also looks at how national governments and other stakeholders construct Muslim difference in public discourse

Islamic Movements of Europe Frank Peter, Rafael Ortega, 2014-09-08 Islam in Europe and Islamophobia are subjects of vital global importance which currently preoccupy policy makers and academics alike Through the examination of various European Muslim groups and institutions that have branched off from Islamic movements including the Muslim Brotherhood Hizb ut Tahrir and Jama'at al Islami this book outlines the configuration of social political and religious processes that have given rise to new kinds of European Muslim organisations The authors offer a new perspective on these Muslim groups and seek to reclaim them from the often highly charged public debates by placing them within the context of their origins as politicised religious movements on the one hand and their ongoing incorporation into European societal structures on the other They also consider the relationship of these organisations to their parent movements and examine the presence of Islam in European education and higher education institutions Taking into account the connection between Islamic movements and the perceived surge of Islamophobia in Europe this book does not debate the question of whether these groups fit into normative or cultural structures of European nation states but rather examines how these structures have changed through their interaction with these groups and the growing Muslim population within Europe It does not consider political Islam as the antithesis to a refined notion of secularism but as a form of public religion which contributes to the ever changing structure of Europe s secular regimes Featuring the work of more than 40 scholars from around the world this is the comprehensive guide to Islamic movements in Europe offering original definitive perspectives on Muslims and Islam in Europe today It will be essential reading for policy makers political commentators and scholars alike

The Muslim Brotherhood in Europe Roel Meijer,2012 Scholars have long debated the intentions of the Muslim Brotherhood in the Middle East Some claim the organization supports terrorism while others believe it is a positive force for democratization Though the Muslim Brotherhood in Europe has attracted less attention many feel they understand the group just as well They assume it is closely tied to its Middle Eastern counterpart with detractors regarding it to be a suspicious secretive and centrally led organization increasing the alienation of Europe s Muslims Sympathizers on the other hand see it as a moderate westernized and fully integrated force for good This volume complicates both these views with experts providing richer and more impartial perspectives on the critical issues relating to Europe s Muslim Brotherhood It follows the growth and operation of these organizations within different European contexts and captures their highly specific relationship with non Muslim media and authority figures

Immigration to Europe from South Asia and the Muslim World Naveed Ahmad Tahir,2005 Islam in the European Union Yunas Samad,Kasturi Sen,2007 Papers presented at a conference held in 2003 European Perceptions of Islam and America from Saladin to George W. Bush Peter O'Brien,2009-02-13 The study unearths in European writings about chief rivals Islamic civilization between the first Crusade in 1095 and the final Ottoman siege of Vienna in 1683 and the United States of America from independence in 1776 until the present persistent solicitude regarding Europe s capacity to lead the world Intriguingly however this very self doubt prompted the kind of intense introspection which helped in the past to forge seismic progressive reform movements such as the Renaissance Reformation and Scientific Revolution that ultimately propelled Europe past a more inward looking Islam and which today may very well be positioning a rapidly transforming Europe Union to counter the hegemony of a seemingly smug America The study concludes that frail if not low self esteem has played a significant role in the formation of European identity

Intercultural Relations and Religious Authorities W. A. R. Shadid,P. Sj. van Koningsveld,2002 The permanent presence of Islam and Muslims in the countries of the European Union implies many different forms of intercultural relations at different levels of society as for instance between Muslims and other religious or philosophical groups within the framework of social and health care in city life and within the sector of education Furthermore the relations between Muslim religious authorities and society at large may be seen as forms of intercultural relations All these types of intercultural relations are influenced by the images fostered by various groups and individuals about the Others The chapters comprising of this volume each contribute to the elucidation of some aspects of these processes of intercultural relations They have been grouped into four main categories the image formation about Islam and Muslims and its impact on their position in the countries of the European Union especially in the press in schoolbooks and in local politics the intercultural relations between Muslims and other groups and institutions in the countries concerned as stereotypes and prejudices can exercise a detrimental effect upon intercultural relations within many different sectors of society religion and education and especially the Islamic Religious Education as well as the religiousness of Muslim and non Muslim pupils the religious authorities of the Muslim communities in the countries of the European Union and their contribution to the formation of a European Islam In this context special attention is paid to the role Muslim religious authorities play in the discussions concerning political participation by Muslims in the West
