

Narrative Writing

Purpose

The purpose of narrative is to tell a story.
They are used to make a point
or a lesson.
They are to both inform and entertain.
Narrative can be written in many forms,
(for example: history, biography, fiction,
poetry, or even letters, speeches,
lectures, essays,
scripts, novels, newspaper and journalism)

Orientation

If your orientation raises questions, it will keep the reader interested.
Always put things in the past, begin your narrative in the past of before
'The day of the old, abandoned house of the house, he used all his strength to break open'
What is behind the door? Is he coming away from something? How is he going to get in or out?
Describe things, but describe them in a way that will get into the story quickly.
'What is worth more than time passing, beyond
any other matter'
What has happened? Who is behind?

Narrative Writing Powerpoint In First Grade:

Nonfiction Craft Lessons JoAnn Portalupi, Ralph J. Fletcher, 2001 Writing nonfiction represents a big step for most students. Most young writers are not intimidated by personal narrative, fiction, or even poetry, but when they try to put together a teaching book report or persuasive essay, they often feel anxious and frustrated. JoAnn Portalupi and Ralph Fletcher believe that young nonfiction writers supply plenty of passion, keen interest, and wonder. Teachers can provide concrete strategies to help students scaffold their ideas as they write in this challenging genre. Like the authors' best-selling Craft Lessons: Teaching Writing K-8, this book is divided into sections for K-2, 3-4, and middle school grades 5-8 students. These divisions reflect various differences between emerging, competent, and fluent writers. In each section, you'll find a generous collection of craft lessons directed at the genre that's most appropriate for that particular age. In the K-2 section, for example, a number of craft lessons focus on the all-about or concept book. In the 3-4 section, there are several lessons on biography. In the 5-8 section, a series of lessons addresses expository writing. Throughout the book, each of the 80 lessons is presented on a single page in an easy-to-read format. Every lesson features three teaching guidelines: Discussion (A brief look at the reasons for teaching the particular element of craft, specifically in a nonfiction context), How to Teach It (Concrete language showing exactly how a teacher might bring this craft element to students in writing conferences or a small group setting), and Resource Material (Specific book or text referred to in the craft lesson, including trade books or a piece of student writing in the Appendixes). This book will help students breathe voice into lifeless dump-truck writing and improve their nonfiction writing by making it clearer, more authoritative, and more organized. Nonfiction Craft Lessons gives teachers a wealth of practical strategies to help students grow into strong writers as they explore and explain the world around them. Be sure to look at the When Students Write videotapes too. Narrative Writing, Grades 3-5 Andrea Trischitta, 2000-05 Activities include lessons on the elements of narrative writing: figurative language, grammar, proofreading, editing skills, and ways to use technology.
