Singh, V. Bhalla, Vinod Kaul, 1994 The People of India project a massive exercise carried out by the Anthropological Survey of India has generated a wealth of information on the hundreds of communities castes and tribes which exist in this country The subjects covered include culture society location language script biological variation educational level impact of development food habits rituals and work practices The present volume comprises all the material which was collected on the existing biological information available for nearly 900 Indian communities The material was gathered from the All India Anthropometric Survey and the All India Bio Anthropological Surveys conducted by the Anthropological Survey of India The larger set of quantitative data is contained in tables within this volume which deal with somatometry dermatoglyphics blood groups serum proteins biochemical variants and various genetic traits A major finding of this exercise is the heterogeneity of biological traits and the pattern of their distribution across social categories and territories The data also suggests that much ground still remains to be covered vis a vis biological on India in sharp contrast to the cultural and linguistic material that the Survey has now made available Bollyworld Raminder Kaur, Ajay J Sinha, 2005-07-13 Popular Indian Cinema is clearly a worldwide phenomenon But what often gets overlooked in this celebration is this cinema's intricate relationship with global dynamics since its very inception in the 1890s With contributions from a range of international scholars this volume analyses the transnational networks of India's popular cinema in terms of its production narratives and reception The first section of the book Topographies concentrates on the globalised audio visual economies within which the technologies and aesthetics of India's commercial cinema developed Essays here focus on the iconic roles of actors like Devika Rani and Fearless Nadia film makers such as D G Phalke and Baburao Painter the film Sant Tukaram and aspects of early cinematography The second section Trans Actions argues that the national fantasy of Indian commercial cinema is an unstable construction Essays here concentrate on the conversations between Indian action movies of the 1970s and other genres of action and martial arts films the features of post liberalisation Indian films designed to meet the needs of an imagined global audience in the 1990s and the changing metaphor of the vamp as portrayed through desirous women in films with examples of the Anglo Asian the westernized Indian woman of low character and the contemporary figure of the heroine The final section Travels focuses on the overseas reception of Indian cinema with ethnographic case studies from Germany Guyana the USA South Africa Nigeria and Britain The contributors highlight various issues concerning modernity racial ethnic identity the gaze of the mainstream Other gender hybridity moral universes and the articulation of desire and disdain Linguistic Survey of India Sir George Abraham Grierson, 1907 Indian Antiquary, 1874 Politics and Language Y. D.
