Collectively the chapters investigate how real readers, players, audiences, and viewers respond to experience and interpret texts. Contributions to the book investigate discourse types such as contemporary literature, poetry, political speeches, digital fiction, art exhibitions, and online news discourse. The volume also exemplifies the variety of empirical approaches in reception research with contributors drawing on a range of methods including discussion groups, interviews, questionnaires, and think aloud protocols with data analysed from both online and offline sources. Style and Reader Response makes an important contribution to an emerging paradigm within stylistics in which verifiable insights from readers are used to generate new models and new understandings of texts across media with each essay demonstrating the centrality of empirical research for theoretical, methodological, and/or analytical advancements within and beyond stylistics     Teaching Copyright Sara E. Wolf, 2024-12-12 Lessons resources and annotated answer keys for instructors at all levels in teaching copyright law. The teaching of copyright and related concepts can easily be overwhelming to instructors who are experts in their field but may have little to no detailed understanding of copyright law. They require reliable, accessible information to coach students on copyright related matters. Teaching Copyright Practical Lesson Ideas and Instructional Resources provides explicit guidance based on U.S. copyright law in the teaching of copyright and related concepts to learners at schools, colleges, and universities. Instructors are supported with time saving resources such as lesson templates, scenarios, practice activities, and a downloadable test question bank. Additionally, Bloom's Taxonomy labels lessons, activities, and assessment items to enable an appropriately diverse set of learning for students. Instead of reducing copyright to simple recall, the lessons and information in this text will help instructors develop higher level thinking about copyright and assist them in measuring learners' abilities not just to remember but also to analyze and evaluate copyright dilemmas

The End of Japanese Cinema Alexander Zahlten, 2017-09-29 In The End of Japanese Cinema Alexander Zahlten moves film theory beyond the confines of film itself, attending to the emergence of new kinds of aesthetics, politics, temporalities, and understandings of film and media. He traces the evolution of a new media ecology through deep historical analyses of the Japanese film industry from the 1960s to the 2000s. Zahlten focuses on three popular industrial genres: Pink Film, independently distributed softcore pornographic films, Kadokawa big budget productions as part of a transmedia strategy, and V Cinema direct-to-video films. He examines the conditions of these films' production to demonstrate how the media industry itself becomes part of the politics of the media text and to highlight the complex negotiation between media and politics, culture, and identity in Japan. Zahlten points to a different history of film one in which a once powerful film industry transformed into becoming only one component within a complex media mix ecology In so doing Zahlten opens new paths for uncovering similar broad processes in other large media societies A Study of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute Columbia University Mediaweek ,2008 Brandweek ,2008
