Object Lessons Robyn

Wiegman,2012-01-11 A passionate advocate of identity studies and a keen reader of U S institutional politics Robyn Wiegman turns her attention in Object Lessons to the critical practices and political ambitions of identity based fields In a series of case studies drawn from womens studies queer studies ethnic studies and American studies she examines the unspoken belief that better theory will produce progressive social change in order to consider the political desire that fuels current scholarly debate Her metacritical analysis is neither a defense nor a dismissal of such political commitment but a sustained inquiry into the hope it generates the thinking it inspires and the conformity it inadvertently demands

Without Apology Greg Goldberg,2025-06-01 Approaches stigmatized sex with candor and curiosity interweaving experience and analysis to better appreciate the intricacies and intrigue of queer desires and pleasures Queer theorists have long defended stigmatized sexual desires and behaviors by demonstrating how they are either fundamentally harmless or have some higher political psychological or social value While such defenses may be useful in combatting homophobia the mandate that sex be either benign or virtuous has impeded our ability to apprehend the nuance and variety of the things that turn us on and get us off Queer Pleasure Without Apology refuses this mandate approaching stigmatized sex with curiosity rather than judgment Greg Goldberg examines his own bad desires and behaviors from anonymous sex to fetishization to playing games to show how critics keep getting them wrong Heady and humorous Queer Pleasure Without Apology challenges us to think about sex in a way that is as playful and perplexing as sex itself
