Migration Mediterranean Mechanisms International Cooperation:

Migration in the Mediterranean Francesca Ippolito, Seline Trevisanut, 2016 The Mediterranean Sea has always been a route for migration. For centuries caravans have crossed its waters for the most diverse reasons: commerce, war, pilgrimage, cultural exchange, etc. In the last decades, these same waters constitute the scenery of what appears as a never-ending tragedy: irregular migration and the thousands of related deaths. According to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the International Organization for Migration (IOM), 2014 has been so far the deadliest year for the Mediterranean, with nearly 1,900 migrants lost their lives, compared to the 700 recorded in 2013 and about 500 recorded in 2012.

Human Trafficking Under International and Tanzanian Law Nicksoni Filbert Kahimba, 2021-03-13 This book deals with the problem of human trafficking in Tanzania in the light of international law and considers human trafficking as both a criminal offence in Tanzania and a human rights violation within international law in general. The book broadens the reader's understanding of the subject of human trafficking and Tanzania's legal approach to the issue and allows the reader to grasp Tanzania's anti-trafficking piecemeal efforts from the 1970s onwards, the reasons that made Tanzania ratify the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, and Tanzania's National Assembly's deliberations regarding the enactment of the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act of 2008 and the impact those deliberations have had on the current legal framework of Tanzania. It provides a firsthand critical analysis of the Tanzania anti-trafficking law, pointing out its strengths, weaknesses, and areas for improvement in a comprehensive manner such as has never been attempted before. The book shares many tips and even insights on how to read and apply Tanzania's 2015 Anti-Trafficking Regulations in relation to the main law harmoniously. It also offers complete instructions for common law practitioners, court personnel, researchers, and other anti-trafficking personnel on how to investigate and prosecute human trafficking, prevent trafficking both lawfully and from occurring, as well as assist victims of human trafficking and protect their human rights. Nicksoni Filbert Kahimba is a doctoral researcher in the Faculty of Law of the Humboldt University of Berlin in Berlin, Germany. The author also lectures at the School of Law of the University of Dar es Salaam in Tanzania. Specific to this book: Contains the only up-to-date critical analysis of the Tanzanian anti-trafficking law in light of international law. Equips common law practitioners, court personnel, researchers, and other anti-trafficking personnel with basic principles on how to combat human trafficking effectively while also protecting the victims thereof. Simplifies a complicated picture of human trafficking and its myriad aspects in respect to the Tanzanian anti-trafficking legal and institutional framework. This is Volume 27 in the International Criminal Justice Series.

International Migration Law Vincent Chetail, 2019-03-29 International Migration Law provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of the international legal framework applicable to the movement of persons across borders The role of international law in this field is complex and often ambiguous there is no single source for the international law governing migration The current framework is scattered throughout a wide array of rules belonging to numerous fields of international law including refugee law human rights law humanitarian law labour law trade law maritime law criminal law and consular law This textbook therefore cuts through this complexity by clearly demonstrating what the current international law is and assessing how it operates The book offers a unique and comprehensive mapping of this growing field of international law It brings together and critically analyses the disparate conventional customary and soft law on a broad variety of issues such as irregular migration human trafficking refugee protection labour migration non discrimination regional free movement schemes and global migration governance It also offers a particular focus on important groups of migrants namely migrant workers refugees and smuggled migrants It maps the current status of the law governing their movement providing a thorough critical analysis of the various stands of international law which apply to them suggesting how the law may continue to develop in the future This book provides the perfect introduction to all aspects of migration and international law

The Paradox of Planetary Human Entanglements Inocent Moyo, Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2022-12-30 The Paradox of Planetary Human Entanglements provides a nuanced understanding of the complexity of planetary human entanglements in this age of increased borderisation and territorialisation racism and xenophobia and inclusion and exclusion One of the greatest paradoxes of the 21st century is that of increased planetary human entanglements enabled by globalisation on the one hand and by the rising tide of exclusionary right wing politics of racism xenophobia and the building of walled states on the other The characteristic feature of this paradox is the unrestrained move towards the detention and incarceration of those who attempt to migrate This brings to the fore the issue of borders in terms of their materiality and symbolism and how this mediates belonging citizenship and the ethics or lack thereof and politics of living together This book shows that at the core of border and migration restrictions is the desire to exclude certain categories of people which aptly demonstrates that borders in their materiality are not for everyone but for those who are considered undesirable migrants The authors examine questions of borders nationalism migration immigration and belonging setting the basis of a campaign for planetary humanism grounded on human dignity which transcends ethnicity and nationality This book will be a useful resource for students scholars and researchers of African Studies Border Studies Migration Studies Development Studies International Studies Black Studies International Relations and Political Science
