Metadiscourse Exploring Interaction In Writing Ken Hyland:

Metadiscourse Ken Hyland, 2018-10-18 First released in 2005 Ken Hyland's Metadiscourse has become a canonical account of how language is used in written communication. Metadiscourse is defined as the ways that writers reflect on their texts to refer to themselves, their readers, or the text itself. It is a key resource in language as it allows the writer to engage with readers in familiar and expected ways and as such it is an important tool for students of academic writing in both the L1 and L2 context. This book achieves for main goals to provide an accessible introduction to metadiscourse, discussing its role and importance in written communication and reviewing current thinking on the topic to explore examples of metadiscourse in a range of texts from business, academic, journalistic, and student writing to offer a new theory of metadiscourse to show the relevance of this theory to students, academics, and language teachers. The book shows how writers use the devices of metadiscourse to adjust the level of personality in their texts to offer a representation of themselves and their arguments. It shows how these tools help the reader organise, interpret, and evaluate the information presented in the text. Knowing how to identify metadiscourse as a reader is a key skill to be learnt by students of discourse analysis and this book makes this a central goal.

Narrative Comments in the Gospel of John David A. Lamb, 2024-12-15 Scholars have long noted that comments by the author or editor often referred to as narrative asides or parentheses are frequent in the Fourth Gospel The Function of Narrative Comments in the Gospel of John A Literary and Linguistic Analysis is a comprehensive guide to this significant feature In the vein of Gilbert Van Belle's Les Parenthèses dans l'Évangile de Jean 1985 Lamb provides a detailed analysis of the terminology definition and categorization of these comments and interacts extensively with existing scholarship He looks at the role of the comments in the Gospel's composition assesses their function using insights from literary theory dramatic theory and sociolinguistics and makes comparisons with OT historical writings the Synoptic Gospels and the works of Herodotus and Thucydides He concludes that the narrative comments are an integral part of the text which reflect the authority of the author and that they have significant implications for our exegesis of the Gospel

Dialogicity in Written Specialised Genres Luz Gil-Salom, Carmen Soler-Monreal, 2014-07-15 Dialogicity in Written Specialised Genres analyses how human beings intentionally establish a network of relations that contribute to the construction of discourse in different genres in academic promotional and professional domains in English Spanish and Italian The chapters in the present volume investigate individual voices both those assumed by the writer and those attributed to others and how they act interpersonally and become explicit in the discourse From a number of different research approaches contributing authors focus on various textual components self mention impersonation attribution markers engagement markers attitude markers boosters hedges reporting verbs politeness strategies and citations The collection is unusual in that it addresses these issues not only from the perspective of English but also from that of Spanish and Italian It thus represents a refreshing reassessment of the contrastive dimension in the study of voice and dialogic relations taking into consideration language specialised fields and genre The volume will appeal to researchers interested in language as multidimensional dialogue particularly with regard to different written specialised texts from different linguistic backgrounds Novice writers may also find it of help in order to attain a greater understanding of the dialogic nature of writing

Emotion in Discourse J. Lachlan Mackenzie, Laura Alba-Juez, 2019-03-15 Interest in human emotion no longer equates to unscientific speculation 21st century humanities scholars are paying serious attention to our capacity to express emotions and giving rigorous explanations of affect in language We are unquestionably witnessing an emotional turn not only in linguistics but also in other fields of scientific research Emotion in Discourse follows from and reflects on this scholarly awakening to the world of emotion and in particular to its intricate relationship with human language The book presents both the state of the art and the latest research in an effort to unravel the various workings of the expression of emotion in discourse It takes an interdisciplinary approach for emotion is a multifarious phenomenon whose functions in language are enlightened by such other disciplines as psychology neurology or communication studies The volume shows not only how emotion manifests at different linguistic levels but also how it relates to aspects like linguistic appraisal emotional intelligence or humor as well as covering its occurrence in various genres including scientific discourse As such the book contributes to an emerging interdisciplinary field which could be labeled emotionology transcending previous linguistic work and providing an updated characterization of how emotion functions in human discourse Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts
