

The background of the entire image is a fiery orange and red sky filled with streaks of light from falling meteors. In the upper right, a large, bright meteor is captured in mid-air, leaving a long, glowing trail. In the lower center, the silhouettes of a man and a woman are visible from behind, holding hands and looking out towards the horizon where a bright, intense light source, likely the point of meteor entry, is creating a massive burst of fire and light. The overall atmosphere is one of awe and danger.
