Evidence-Based Cybersecurity Pierre-Luc

Pomerleau, David Maimon, 2022-06-23 The prevalence of cyber dependent crimes and illegal activities that can only be performed using a computer computer networks or other forms of information communication technology has significantly increased during the last two decades in the USA and worldwide As a result cybersecurity scholars and practitioners have developed various tools and policies to reduce individuals and organizations risk of experiencing cyber dependent crimes However although cybersecurity research and tools production efforts have increased substantially very little attention has been devoted to identifying potential comprehensive interventions that consider both human and technical aspects of the local ecology within which these crimes emerge and persist Moreover it appears that rigorous scientific assessments of these technologies and policies in the wild have been dismissed in the process of encouraging innovation and marketing Consequently governmental organizations public and private companies allocate a considerable portion of their operations budgets to protecting their computer and internet infrastructures without understanding the effectiveness of various tools and policies in reducing the myriad of risks they face Unfortunately this practice may complicate organizational workflows and increase costs for government entities businesses and consumers The success of the evidence based approach in improving performance in a wide range of professions for example medicine policing and education leads us to believe that an evidence based cybersecurity approach is critical for improving cybersecurity efforts This book seeks to explain the foundation of the evidence based cybersecurity approach review its relevance in the context of existing security tools and policies and provide concrete examples of how adopting this approach could improve cybersecurity operations and guide policymakers decision making process The evidence based cybersecurity approach explained aims to support security professionals policymakers and individual computer users decision making regarding the deployment of security policies and tools by calling for rigorous scientific investigations of the effectiveness of these policies and mechanisms in achieving their goals to protect critical assets This book illustrates how this approach provides an ideal framework for conceptualizing an interdisciplinary problem like cybersecurity because it stresses moving beyond decision makers political financial social and personal experience backgrounds when adopting cybersecurity tools and policies This approach is also a model in which policy decisions are made based on scientific research findings

Blockchain and Clinical Trial Hamid Jahankhani,Stefan Kendzierskyj,Arshad Jamal,Gregory Epiphaniou,Haider Al-Khateeb,2019-04-08

This book aims to highlight the gaps and the transparency issues in the clinical research and trials processes and how there is a lack of information flowing back to researchers and patients involved in those trials Lack of data transparency is an underlying theme within the clinical research world and causes issues of corruption fraud errors and a problem of reproducibility Blockchain can prove to be a method to ensure a much more joined up and integrated approach to data sharing and improving patient outcomes Surveys undertaken by creditable organisations in the healthcare industry are analysed in this book that show strong support for using blockchain technology regarding strengthening data security interoperability and a range of beneficial use cases where mostly all respondents of the surveys believe blockchain will be important for the future of the healthcare industry Another aspect considered in the book is the coming surge of healthcare wearables using Internet of Things IoT and the prediction that the current capacity of centralised networks will not cope with the demands of data storage The benefits are great for clinical research but will add more pressure to the transparency of clinical trials and how this is managed unless a secure mechanism like blockchain is used
