

Goldilocks and the Three Bears

Goldilocks had just had an idea and was sitting on the porch of her house. Her mother had told her that she should not go into the forest, but she was so bored that she decided to go. She had heard that there were three bears in the forest and she was curious to see them. She had also heard that they were very friendly and she was hoping to make a friend.

As she walked through the forest, she saw a small stream. She stopped to drink some water and then she saw a small house. She was curious to see what was inside, so she went in. She found a table with three chairs and a table with three plates. She was very hungry, so she ate the porridge. She then went to bed and fell asleep.

The first bear came home and found the porridge was eaten. He was angry, but he was also curious to see who had eaten it. He went to the stream and found Goldilocks. He was very friendly and he told her that he was the first bear. He then took her to his house and she stayed there for a few days.
