Organization Reunion Tri State Settlers Association:

Report of the Organization and First Reunion of the Tri-State Old Settlers' Association, of Illinois, Missouri and Iowa Held Thursday, October 2d, 1884 at Rand Park, Keokuk, Iowa Tri-State Old Settlers' Association, 1884      Promised Lands David M. Wrobel, 2002-10-31 Whether seen as a land of opportunity or as paradise lost the American West took shape in the nation's imagination with the help of those who wrote about it but two groups who did much to shape that perception are often overlooked today. Promoters trying to lure settlers and investors to the West insisted that the frontier had already been tamed that the only frontiers remaining were those of opportunity. Through posters pamphlets newspaper articles and other printed pieces these boosters literally imagined places into existence by depicting backwater areas as settled culturally developed regions where newcomers would find none of the hardships associated with frontier life. Quick on their heels some of the West's original settlers had begun publishing their reminiscences in books and periodicals and banding together in pioneer societies to sustain their conception of frontier heritage. Their selective memory focused on the savage wilderness they had tamed exaggerating the past every bit as much as promoters exaggerated the present. Although they are generally seen today as unscrupulous charlatans and tellers of tall tales David Wrobel reveals that these promoters and reminiscers were more significant than their detractors have suggested. By exploring the vast literature produced by these individuals from the end of the Civil War through the 1920s he clarifies the pivotal impact of their works on our vision of both the historic and mythic West. In examining their role in forging both sense of place within the West and the nation's sense of the West as a place Wrobel shows that these works were vital to the process of identity formation among westerners themselves and to the construction of a West in the national imagination. Wrobel also sheds light on the often elitist sometimes racist legacies of both groups through their characterizations of Native Americans African Americans Mexican Americans and Asian Americans. In the era Wrobel examines promoters painted the future of each western place as if it were already present while the old timers preserved the past as if it were still present. But as he also demonstrates that West has not really changed much promoters still tout its promise while old timers still try to preserve their selective memories. Even relatively recent western residents still tap into the region's mythic pioneer heritage as they form their attachments to place. Promised Lands shows us that the West may well move into the twenty first century but our images of it are forever rooted in the nineteenth.

Graff Collection of Western Americana* Newberry Library, 1968-11 The Everett D Graff Collection of Western Americana consists of some 10 000 books manuscripts maps pamphlets broadsides broadsheets and photographs of which about half are described in the present catalogue. The Graff Collection displays the remarkable breadth of interest knowledge and taste of a great bibliophile and student of Western American history. From this rich collection now in The Newberry Library Chicago its former Curator Colton Storm has compiled a discriminating and representative Catalogue of the rarer and more unusual materials Collectors bibliographers librarians historians and book dealers specializing in Americana will find the Graff Catalogue an interesting and essential tool Detailed collations and binding descriptions are cited and many of the more important works have been annotated by Mr Graff and Mr Storm An extensive index of persons and subjects makes the book useful to the scholar as well as to the collector and dealer The book is not a bibliography but rather a guide to rare or unique source materials now enriching The Newberry Library s outstanding holdings in American history
