current and future health needs of this country's urban marginalized communities is one that has also received considerable attention in academic policy and practice arenas in the past decade. A variety of models have been put forth to achieve the goal of health in these communities. One of the most promising recommendations has been the use of health promotion as a vehicle for reaching and empowering communities of color in both rural and urban America. The youth led environmental justice movement as it will be addressed in various sections of this book is one of the latest and most promising approaches towards health promotion that is grass roots and community participatory based. Youth led health promotion represents an emerging field with tremendous implications for addressing the health needs of marginalized urban youth of color in the United States.
