

Abstract 101.01: Specialized and Generalized Functions in the Brain

The brain is a complex organ that performs a wide range of functions. The specialized functions of the brain are those that are performed by specific areas of the brain, such as the motor cortex, which controls movement, and the sensory cortex, which processes sensory information. The generalized functions of the brain are those that are performed by all areas of the brain, such as the ability to learn and remember, and the ability to regulate emotions and behavior.
